SRI SYED ALTAF HYDER RAZVI: Sir, The Hon’ble Minister for Home has mentioned that there has been an increase about 3 to 6 per cent in the crimes and offences. Now, I would like to give some statistics regarding the offences in 2006 when compared to 2005. There is an increase of about 12% crimes in the State. In City alone the properties worth Rs. 21.75 crores were stolen under different offences.
I feel that the police strength is not good. We can't blame the police. What are the measures being taken to strengthen the Department? The ratio of public and police in other Metros compared to Hyderabad is higher. In Mumbai 2.2% police personnel per thousand people. There is a survey conducted by the Police Commission which says that 700 people, one police man is required. That is the survey undertaken 30 years back. I don't know whether there was any survey carried out thereafter. I feel that for 500 people, one police is required in urban areas. What is the present ratio? I would like to know from the Hon'ble Minister. I would also like to know about the number of crimes that have taken place in 2007. If we can differentiate this, about 27 Police Stations have registered crimes against women. How many cases were registered this year and how many of them were disposed of and how many charge sheets were filed? As the charge sheets are not being filed in time, the offenders go scot-free. I would like to know, how many cases for 2007 have been registered and what is the ratio between police and people.

Crimes always increase. That is because there has been conscious among the people. People are educated. They come forward and give complaints and a lot of legislation is coming through. Literacy contains deterrent classes and cognizable offences are made out. So, nobody can say that crime can be reduced. It is a world phenomena.

I would like to compliment the Hon'ble Minister for giving a graphic account of what are the various ways that can be made for controlling crime, not decreasing crime. The concept should be controlling crime. It should not be decreasing crime. Decreasing crime means, one of the SPs will not simply allow any registration to be done. It can be decreased that way. All 324 cases you make them non-cognizable and make them decreased and there would not be statistics. These are not correct. The best way is, involving the community policing. Community policing is the modern trend. We have to evolve community police so that they can themselves safeguard in their areas and prevent crime.

My experience as Head of the Police for at least four years says that in all the four years, crime has been increasing only. I have never taken pride saying that crime decreases because that is a wrong concept. It will never be reduced. It can only be controlled. My learned friend has just now asked as to the ratio between the police and population. Even there also, all over India, it is hopefully poor. Normally, 500 people require one constable. That is the limit. Now, even for 1000 we don't have one Constable in some places. We can never equate the ratio of population and the ratio of the police force. This is perpetually dis-proportionate and it will continue. The only way that can be done is by encouraging community policing. I am strongly advocating the community policing. It means, people in the area, people in the district will have to be involved in detecting foreigners coming, strangers coming etc., They can even check the terrorists. If the community is not involved, I am afraid, policing will continue to be as it is now.

Thank you.
Police statistics need not necessarily speak the totality about truth.

Organised crime syndicates, real estate mafia, nexus with terrorism.
