"Subsequently, the State saw significant academic and social progress for over three decades. As a result, Andhra Pradesh today stands as one of the front runners among the progressive States in the country. It could arguably be said that this very progress has led Telangana to revive the demand for separate State in order to gain greater political gain."
Some other options particularly bringing into focus the issue of backwardness of Rayalaseema region and some other parts of the State were also suggested by different stakeholders and these two points have been examined. After considering all aspects, the Committee found keeping the State united. The United Andhra Pradesh Assembly is being suggested for continuing the development movement of three regions and keeping in mind the National perspective. With firm political and administrative management, it should be possible to convey conviction to the people that this option would be in the best interest of the people and would provide satisfaction to the maximum number of the people in the State. It would also take care of the uncertainty over the future of Hyderabad as an Educational, Industrial and IT Hall. Our destination for management of water and Irrigation resources on an equitable basis, a technical body that is water management Board and on Irrigation project development corporation in expanded role have been recommended. The above course of action should meet all the issues raised by Telangana people satisfactorily.

There is over all rationality in the formation of our various states and we should be very careful not to break this foundation of rationality in momentary passions. We should consider the feelings of the people, but it will be very wrong for the Government to set aside the feelings. We must see what is there in the larger interest of the people. She further said that this State has long cultural and historical tradition and each state has become a political entity in its own special way. Andhra Pradesh has a distinct cultural unity for thousands of years. The name has been found in the earlier Bhuddist writings. All the parts which now constitute Andhra Pradesh have been under one umbrella for long periods of history. Let us just not look at just the immediate period of history.

On the other hand, the Telugu states of the Mera rule are in the forefront.

The leader of the House has made a very good appeal.

You will get it next time. Let him continue.

"In the year 2008-09 a total of just Rs 22,000 crores is the sales tax accrual in Andhra Pradesh. Incidentally almost 75% of the amount collected comes from Hyderabad alone. The sales tax collection is undertaken as per the sales tax division and often one division can cover more than one District. However, broadly it can be said that excluding Hyderabad City the business activity is concentrated in Coastal Andhra and just about 15% sales tax collection takes place. Tax collection in Rayalaseema is about 3%."

MR. DEPUTY SPEAKER: Please conclude, Vatti Vasant Kumar garu.

SRI VATTI VANT KUMAR: Sir, I am only initiating the debate.

Sir, "the Hyderabad Assembly discussed on Official Resolution on SRC Report from November 25th to December 03rd 1955. The trend of the debate was that out of the 174 Members of the House, barring the Speaker, participated in the discussion. 147 Members expressed their views. Out of these, 103 favoured Visalandhra, 29 favoured independent Hyderabad State and 15 Members remained neutral. From the Residuary State, 59 wanted Visalandhra and 25 wanted separate Hyderabad State and 1 was neutral." Sir, therefore, majority of people favoured the decision. How can they say now that we have compelled them to merge with us.

On 27th Jan, 1955 Sir, public meeting took place at Pragathi Bhavan, where my brother-in-law addressing the meeting stated that the Leader of the opposition at that time was opposing the merger of the Tanuku area with the State of Andhra, but 12 years later, he was opposing the merger of the whole of Telangana with the State of Andhra.

The Tanuku area, which is a part of Telangana, is being merged with the State of Andhra.

I have a certain area here which is important for the people of Telangana. It is the area of the Tanuku district. The Tanuku area is being merged with the State of Andhra.

In conclusion, I would like to say that the merger of the Tanuku area with the State of Andhra is a historical decision. It is a decision that has been made after a lot of deliberation and discussion.

I have had the matter examined The Government of India is of the view that regional disparities in economic development can be tackled through planning and efficient use of available resources. The Government of India, therefore, do not propose creation of a separate State of Telangana.”

Constitution of India generates a highly complex notion of its strong federal union. It assigns certain exclusive powers in terms of legislative, initiative and executive controls to the Central Government. The exercise of which can have a transforming impact on the polity, but, interestingly, these powers are made subject to varying digress of federal concurrence with in-built constitutional mechanisms – checks and balances, parliamentary accountability. The organic constitution as it is allows reorganization of the state provision of statehood to the Union Territories. For example: the Parliament by virtue of Article 3 of Constitution has exclusive powers for forming federal units. However, any legislative proposal in this regard cannot be introduced without obtaining prior presidential sanction which in turn must ascertain the views of the affecting states before introduction of the bill in the Parliament. In practice, it is rarely possible for the Parliament to ignore the views of the states. Central Government in effect cannot concede to the demands of the regional groups, communities for separate states unless such a proposal is received from the states in which these groups are currently relocated.

The First State Reorganization Commission was first constituted in the year 1951 and submitted its report in 1953 and according its recommendations, certain states in the country were reorganized on linguistic basis. It will be in the fitness of things, if another States Reorganization Commission is constituted today, there would have been different demands from different states and from different regions. The people of Vidarbha have been rising for a demand for creation of statehood to their region which has been opposing by the rest of the people of Maharashtra. We have taken a line that we can accede to a demand for a particular region only when due weightage is given to it by passing a resolution to that effect in the State Legislative Assembly by passing a resolution. Kindly make a note of it. I am quoting this from the official statement given by Sri L.K. Advani on the Floor of the Parliament in the year 2000. I am once again quoting “that if due weightage is given to it by passing a resolution to that effect in the State Legislative Assembly. It does not mean that we will concede everything passed by the State Legislative Assembly, but with regard to creation of state, the resolution passed by the State Legislative Assembly signifies general consensus.
Sri P. Chidambaram, the Hon'ble Minister for Home, Government of India had made an announcement on 09th December, 2009 “that the process of forming the state of Telangana will be initiated and an appropriate resolution will be moved in the State Legislative Assembly”. I am again quoting “that the process of forming the state of Telangana will be initiated and an appropriate resolution will be moved in the State Legislative Assembly”.

While respecting the report of the First States Reorganization Commission, the Congress Party notes that there are many valid reasons for formation of separates states such as Vidarbha in Maharashtra and Telangana in Andhra Pradesh. However, the reorganization of existing states raises a large number of issues. The Congress Party feels that the whole matter could be best addressed by constituting another States Reorganization Commission to look into all these issues.

I am quoting from the findings of the 74th Conference of Presiding Officers of the Legislative Bodies in the country held at Bhopal on 03-04-2010 which was presided over by Smt. Miera Kumar, Hon'ble Speaker of Lok Sabha: That the issue of creation of smaller states was discussed in the said conference. This extract is from the report of the Sri Krishna Commission. “It is understood that the report of the First States Reorganization Commission of 1956 was one of the reference points for this discussion. Reportedly, the majority view was that the emphasis should be on good discussion, on good governance and overall and balance development of all parts of the country rather than creation of more and more states. On the other hand, the view to the contrary was also articulated that the need for smaller states was a reality which could not be wished away and it would definitely be a positive step towards fulfilling the aspirations of the neglected and underdeveloped parts of the country. Notwithstanding two divergent views, there was unanimity that nothing more is sacrosanct than the unity and integrity of India and this important matter keeping the present scenario in view, it deserves the rational approach and as such needs to be discussed threadbare at the national level with the active involvement of the political parties in the country. Further, the Government of India as per the constitution vests all the required powers to create new states by passing a bill in the Parliament as such the Parliament is the best institution to delineate different parameters and facilitate for a national view in the subject matter. Parliament in our view is the best forum, but whether the time is now ripe for constitution of another States Reorganization Commission, should be considered by the Government of India.

DY. SPEAKER: Please conclude.

SRI VATTI VASANTHA KUMAR: Few more minutes. I am quoting the observations of the Supreme Court of India – “The power to admit new states into Indian Union under the Article 2 of Constitution of India is no doubt in the very nature of the power is very wide and its exercise necessarily guiding by the political issues, considerable complexity, many of which may not be judicially manageable, but for that reason it cannot be predictable that Article 2 confers on the Parliament un-reviewable and unfettered powers immune from judicial scrutiny. The power is limited by the Indian constitutionalism and those terms and conditions which the Parliament deem fit to impose cannot be in consistent, irreconcilable with fundamental principles of constitution and cannot violate or subvert the supplemental scheme. Therefore, if the terms and conditions stipulated in a law made under Article 2 R/W 371 (f) go beyond the constitutionally permissible attitudes that law can be questioned as it is its validity. Consequently, it cannot be said that the issues are non-justifiable.

Any law referred under Article 2 or 3 shall contain special powers for the purpose of amendment in the First and Fourth Schedule as may be necessary to give effect to the provisions of the law and may also contain supplemental, incidental and consequential provisions including the provisions as to representation in the Parliament and in the Legislature and Legislatures of the State or States affected by the such laws, the Parliament may deem it necessary, no such law as aforesaid shall be amended to the constitution for the purposes of Article 368”.

I am quoting from the Manifesto of the Congress Party for the General Elections – 2004. “The Congress Party recognizes the growing aspirations of the people of Telangana region for a separate state. However, there are several other similar demands from other parts of the country. The Congress Working Committee (CWC) in its meeting held on 30th October, 2000, considered this issue to be resolved in a larger perspective while respecting the report of the First States Reorganisation Commission. The Congress Party notes that there are many valid reasons for formation of separate states such as Vidarbha in Maharashtra and Telengana in Andhra Pradesh. However, reorganization of existing states raises a large number of issues; the Congress Party feels that the whole matter could be best addressed by constitution of another States Reorganisation Commission to look into all the issues involved in it.

I would like to quote 2009 Congress Party Manifesto.

“On the Telangana issue, the Congress Party pledges to honour the stand taken by the Government on the Floor of the House. The Congress Government has already constituted a Committee of Members of both the Houses under the Chairmanship of a senior Congress Leader, Sri K.Rosaiah. The Report is awaited.”

I would like to quote the President’s Address which is as follows.
"The Sarkaria Commission has last looked at the issue of Centre State relations over two decades ago. The Government will set up a new Commission for this purpose keeping in view the sea changes that have taken place in the polity and economy of India since then. The National Development Council will be made a more effective instrument of cooperative federalism. The Inter State Council will also be activated. The Government will consider the demand for the formation of a Telangana State at an appropriate time after due consultations."

MR. DEPUTY SPEAKER: Please conclude.

MR. DEPUTY SPEAKER: You are deviating from the serious discussion.

SRI. P. ASHOK GAJAPATHI RAJU: Sir, I want to bring to your notice certain things. Basically there is a Freedom of Speech in this august House. The restrictions are to be used in the positive sense. It should not be derogatory or personal. In an official capacity, everybody works and their works have an implication. Now, if those implications are also not to be discussed here, then they reflect on the Freedom of Speech in this august House. If there is any freedom in this august House, it is freedom of Speech. The Member has to personally satisfy himself that what he is speaking is true. If he knows that what he is speaking is untrue, he is not expected to speak the truth. This is the responsibility of all the individual members. The instrument of this House should not be used as a Censor board. If an iota of doubt goes into the people’s mind that this House has degenerated into a censor board confidence in this House is lost and purpose for democracy is lost. So it is the Chair’s responsibility and the responsibility of all the Members in this House—whether we like the thing or not—to restrict ourselves and avoid derogatory words.
