Mr Speaker  Let us now take up the legislative work. There are two items for today, one is L A. Bill No 41 of 1952 and the other—a resolution to be moved by the Commerce Minister. I would like to know whether we should take up the Bill first or the Resolution. I would prefer that the resolution be taken first. (Pause)

We shall take up item No 5, the resolution, first.

Shri V B Raju will move it.

Shri V B Raju (The Minister for Labour, Information, Rehabilitation and Planning)  Mr Speaker, Sir, I beg to move

"That this House, while welcoming the Government of India’s decision to reserve 40 per cent of production of dhoties and saris for handloom industry, strongly urges that in order to provide a stable market for the country’s most important and biggest cottage industry i.e., handloom weaving, on which one million men women of this State subsist, the weaving of all dhoties and saris woven from cotton yarn of 20 to 80 counts should be reserved exclusively for the handloom weaving industry in the country. This House is further of opinion that, in order to implement this reservation effectively, the Government of India should take suitable steps to prevent the mill industry from by-passing the rule by producing cotton cloth woven from cotton yarn 20 to 80 counts whose width is 44” to 54” and which can be used by employing some devices of colouring and bordering as dhoties and saris. This House also strongly urges the Government of India to take suitable steps as may be necessary to produce and make available the requisite qualities and quantities of yarn manufactured out of India cotton to the handloom industry."
Resolution in reservation of 15th Nov., 1953

2. The amendment seeks to empower widows to remarry without the consent of their husbands, if any, and to ensure that they are not subjected to any discrimination or harassment as a result of their marital status.

3. The Bill also proposes to ensure that widows are provided with adequate financial support and protection in their old age, and that they are not deprived of their rights to property and inheritance.

4. The amendment seeks to address the social and cultural barriers that prevent widows from remarrying and enjoying equal rights and protection under the law.

5. The Bill has been welcomed by various women's groups and organizations, who have praised it for its progressive approach to addressing the needs and rights of widows.

6. The Bill is expected to be passed in the near future, and it is hoped that it will pave the way for greater social and cultural change in Andhra Pradesh, where the rights and protection of widows have traditionally been limited.

the Hyderabad (Application of Central Acts) Bill

Ms. Masoma Begum (Shahbanda) Mr. Speaker, Su, I heartily welcome the hon. Law Minister's Bill for applying all these Acts which have already been enacted by the Central Legislature. Since 1928, these Acts have been repeatedly asked for, demanded and reiterated by the All-India Women's Conference, and it is a very welcome measure, that these Acts are being applied here. I do not see any reason why Hyderabad also should not fall in line with the Centre since we have already integrated.
