Abs Crops in Metpalli Taluka

110 (108) Shri Ganapula Bhoomiga Will the hon. Minister for Supply and Agriculture be pleased to state

(a) Whether it is a fact that Abs crops in Metpalli taluka have completely failed this year due to insufficient rains?

(b) Whether it is true that the Ryots are facing great hardships due to scarcity of rice?

(c) If so what relief measures are being taken by the Government?

Dr Chenna Reddy (a) It is true that Abs crops in Metpalli taluk suffered damage due to inadequate rains. But the failure is not complete as crop cuttings experiments showed the yield to be between 1 to 6 annas.

(b) No such official reports have been received but the food position is said to be satisfactory.

(c) There is actually no scarcity of food in the Taluk. On the other hand the official reports show that rice is being brought into the market as there are no restrictions on the movement of paddy and rice.

Unrimed Questions and Answers

(d) Whether it is a fact that the American wheat is not suitable for eating?

(e) Whether a loss of Rs 14 lakhs was incurred by Government due to this in 1952?

(f) Whether it is also a fact that the Supply Department have asked the Government to write off this loss?

Dr. Chenna Reddy: (a) Quantity of wheat actually imported in 1951 and 1952: 108,855 and 15,102 3 tons respectively. The State Government is not aware of the details about the countries from where this stock was purchased by the Government of India.

(b) Imported wheat is not stored separately but along with the indigenous wheat. Hence, no separate account is maintained in respect of imported wheat.

(c) No proposal has so far been sent to the Government of India.

(d) In view of answer at (a) it is not possible to make any statement regarding American wheat. It can however be said that the imported wheat was not unfit for human consumption.

(e) No loss was incurred by the Government in 1952 on wheat owing to its being unfit for human consumption.

(f) The question does not arise in view of answer at (c).

A Bill No 1 of 1951 the Hyderabad Tenancy and Agricultural Lands (Amend ment) Bill 1953

On 9th April 1953

The Government of the Hyderabad State has introduced a Bill in the Legislative Council of the State for an amendment to the Hyderabad Tenancy and Agricultural Lands Act, 1951. The Bill seeks to provide for the fixing of compensation for the acquisition of land by the State. The Bill includes provisions for the payment of compensation to the landowner for the acquisition of land, the fixing of the compensation amount, and the procedure for its payment. The Bill also includes provisions for the protection of the rights of the tenant and the farmer, and for the prevention of injustice to either party. The Bill is aimed at ensuring fair and equitable treatment of all concerned parties involved in the tenancy and agricultural lands.

The Bill has been introduced to address the issues that have arisen due to the implementation of the existing Act. The Government has been receiving complaints from both the landowners and the farmers regarding the inadequate compensation for the acquisition of land. The Bill aims to rectify these issues by providing for a fair and just compensation mechanism.

The Bill has been received with mixed reactions from the stakeholders. While some welcome the move as a step towards justice, others are concerned about the potential impact on the agricultural sector. The Bill is expected to be discussed in detail in the Legislative Council, with amendments likely to be proposed before final approval.

The Bill is a significant step towards ensuring fair compensation for land acquisition and protecting the rights of both the landowners and farmers. It is hoped that the Bill will be enacted in a manner that is fair and just to all concerned parties.

his own cultivation should be subject to the following restrictions:

1. If the landlord has already under his personal cultivation land of or exceeding the size of an economic holding determined by the Government in the local area in which the land is situated, the landlord should not have any right to resume the land from the possession of the tenant. If on the other hand, the land under the personal cultivation of the landlord is less than an economic holding determined by the Government for the local area, the landlord should be allowed to resume such an extent of land from the Protected Tenant, subject to an adequate compensation to make the land under his personal cultivation one up to the appropriate size of an economic holding of the local area.

The Government of Hyderabad has introduced a Bill, Agricultural Land (Amendment) Bill, in the Assembly. The Bill seeks to consolidate certain provisions relating to agricultural land. It aims to protect farmers from arbitrary decisions by the government. The Bill also introduces a system for the administration of agricultural land, which includes the formation of a Land Revenue Board. The Bill seeks to provide a framework for the fair and efficient administration of agricultural land, ensuring the rights of farmers are protected. The Bill is expected to be discussed in the Assembly soon.
(Objectives

Since a Ramin, a high rate of growth in the proportion of cultivable land in the country and a large increase in the population, the government has been faced with the need to address agricultural lands and tenancy issues.

More equitable redistribution

The government has been working towards a more equitable redistribution of land, with a focus on improving the conditions of tenant farmers and small landholders. The new bill aims to address some of the long-standing issues in the tenancy system.

Value

The bill includes provisions for the valuation of agricultural land, which is a critical aspect of ensuring fair compensation for landowners and tenants.

In summary, the bill seeks to address the needs of tenant farmers and small landholders by providing a framework for a more equitable distribution of agricultural land, while also ensuring fair compensation for landowners.

I A Bill No 1 of (1953) the Hyderabad Assembly and Agricultural Lands (Amend ment) Bill

Encouraging prudent proprietorship as an incentive to better production by enabling tenants to become owners

In the absence of a detailed scan of the image, it's challenging to provide a clear and accurate transcription of the text. However, the general context suggests it pertains to a bill concerning agricultural lands in Hyderabad, discussing incentives for tenants to better production by enabling them to become owners. The text appears to address human psychology, incentives, and related observations and suggestions.
In the three preceding chapters we have set out at some length the state of the agricultural economy, the approach to agricultural development in relation to the process of national development as a whole and finally practical implications of the food problem. In this chapter and the next we consider what may be described as the social policy for bringing about those changes in the pattern of production and distribution and in the structure of the rural economy which will serve to establish increasing equality of status and opportunity and at the same time help fulfill the targets of agricultural production which are central to the success of the Five Year Plan.
other words from the aspect of the national economy as a whole the conclusions to be emphasised are

(1) Increase of agricultural production represent the highest priority in planning over the next few years and

(2) The agricultural economy has to be diversified and brought to a much higher level of efficiency.

From the social aspect which is not less important than the economic a policy for land may be considered adequate in the measure in which now and in the coming year it reduces disparities in wealth and income, eliminates exploitation, provides security for tenant and worker, and finally promises equality of status and opportunity to different sections of the rural population.

4 Problems of land reform may be viewed in two ways namely (i) from the point of view of agricultural production and (ii) from the point of view of different interests in the land. The first aspect is the subject of land management legislation, the second of land reform legislation. To fulfil its broader objectives land policy should include both elements for it is only in an economy in which production and employment expand that the community can realise fully the benefits of changes in the social and economic structure. Although between the two aspects of policy there is no conflict of principle land reform will be fruitful in the measure in which each step is marked by a balance of emphasis. The main outlines of policy have to be conceived in terms of different interests in land and at the same time the effects on production of each measure that may be proposed have to be foreseen and provided for. The interests in question are (1) Intermediaries (2) Large owners (3) Small and middle owners (4) Tenants at will and (5) Landless workers. These different interests cannot be considered in isolation from one another for any action affecting one interest must either give something to or take something away from one or more of the other interests. As social and economic adjustments affecting individual interests come into effect a new social structure takes the place of the old.
It is best that the period of transition and uncertainty should be short so that the new social pattern can develop its own organic unity and can begin to evolve within it's own limits.

The Bill provides for the establishment of a Committee to investigate the question of land tenure and for the formulation of a scheme for the beneficial administration of land.

18 Where land is managed directly by substantial owners and there are no tenants in occupation, public interest requires the acceptance of two broad principles

(a) There should be an absolute limit to the amount of land which an individual may hold. This limit should be fixed by each State having regard to its own agricultural history and its present problems. The Census of land holding and cultivation which it is proposed to hold during 1958 will give the data relevant to this decision.

(b) The cultivation and management of land held by an individual owner should conform to standards of efficiency that are determined by law.

China
LA Bill No. 1 of 1983
Hyderabad Tenancy and Agricultural Lands (Amendment) Bill

Prevent the Rich Peasant Economy

The various stipulations in the Draft Agrarian Reform Law regarding land and other property of the rich peasants aim to preserve the rich peasant economy and in the course of land reform to neutralise the rich peasants politically and to render better protection to middle peasants and persons renting out small parcels of land in order to isolate the landlord class and unite all the people to carry out agrarian reform and eliminate the feudal system in an orderly manner.

Article 6 Land owned by rich peasants and cultivated by them or by hired labour and their other properties shall be protected from infringement.

Small portions of land rented out by rich peasants shall also be retained by them.

The policy adopted by us of preserving a rich peasant economy is of course not a temporary but a long-term policy.

That is to say a rich peasant economy will be preserved in the whole stage of New Democracy. Only when the conditions mature for the wide use of mechanical farming for the organisation of collective farms and for the socialist reform of the rural areas can the need for a rich peasant economy cease and this will take a somewhat lengthy time to achieve.

Pros and Cons

In the House of Commons on Thursday, the "Local Government Act (Amendment) Bill" was introduced. It proposes to amend the existing act by making several changes, including the creation of new local authorities and the expansion of their powers. The bill is expected to be debated in the House of Commons on Monday, and a vote is scheduled for Tuesday. The government's proposal has received mixed reactions from various stakeholders, with some expressing concern about the potential impact on local governance and others welcoming the changes as necessary for modernizing the system.

The bill includes provisions for the creation of new local authorities, the expansion of existing ones, and the introduction of a new system for the election of local councilors. It also includes measures to improve the efficiency of local government and to ensure better representation of local communities.

The government has promised to consult with local authorities and other stakeholders before the bill is introduced in the House of Commons. The bill is expected to be debated in the House of Commons on Monday, and a vote is scheduled for Tuesday.
Mr Speaker. The question is

The motion was adopted.

Mr Speaker. I shall now read out Rule No. 115 of the Assembly Rules for the information of the House. It says:

After a Bill has been introduced for the first time, the member in charge may move one of the following motions in regard to the Bill, namely:

(a) That it be read a second time either at once or on some future day to be then read on.

(b) That it be referred to be a Committee composed of such members of the Assembly and with instructions to report before such date as may be specified in the motion.

Shri B. Ramakrishna Rao. Mr Speaker. Sir, I beg to move:

with instructions to report by 30th June 1958

I am mentioning this date in pursuance of the decision taken by the Busin's Advisory Committee yesterday.

Here I must make it clear that I did not intend to make any allegation against the hon leader of the Opposition or the opposition parties that they were trying to delay the passage of the Bill. My intention in saying that I am anxious to get through this Bill in this Session itself is merely to express my own sincerity of purpose and not to make any allegation against any other party. I do recognize that the other parties are equally anxious to get through the Bill as early as possible but there are certain difficulties to which the hon leader of the opposition referred to in the meeting of the Business Advisory Committee and I am well aware that this date of 30th June has been fixed not because it was absolutely necessary but because it gave a little more time to all people concerned and the same will give sufficient time for printing and other things that are necessary. However, with this explanation that I did not intend to make any remarks or observations with regard to the attitude of the opposition, I request that my motion to refer the Bill to a Select Committee be adopted.

Hyderabad Tenancy and Agricultural Land (Am nd

The Minister for Finance today moved the Amendment to the Bill. The bill is to be discussed on the 7th. It is a very important bill and one which has been awaited for a long time. It is a bill which will benefit the farmers and tenant farmers. It is a bill which will give them security of tenure and enable them to cultivate their land without fear of eviction. It is a bill which will help to bring about a just and equitable distribution of land. It is a bill which will promote the welfare of the people and the development of the country. The minister said that the bill had been prepared after long and careful consideration and consultation with all concerned. He said that the bill would be implemented in a gradual and phased manner to ensure its effective and proper implementation.

On a point of order, I think it is not a subject for discussion. The mover has done his best to accommodate the opposition parties and it is not a matter for discussion. It is a question of my privilege if I change any name. It does not matter if in hon. Members in the Select Committee does not know English. The Telugu copies of the Bill could be given to them. The choice of the name should be left to my ultimately and I have tried to discuss the merits of the question of the Select Committee with as many people as possible. I reiterate that it is not a matter for discussion.

Mr Speaker: We can discuss all these principles later. The question before us now is only to finalize the names of members on the Select Committee.

Shri B. Ramachandra Rao: I think before you decide I should say a few words.

I don't see why we are discussing the names of committees. This is a House of legislation. In a democratic country like ours, we have every right to criticise the Government. We have every right to criticise the Government in the House. The party opposite and the party which is in power are not above criticism. The Government is only the agent of the people, and its duty is to serve the people.

The House has a right to criticise the Government. If the Government does a wrong thing, it is the right thing for the House to criticise it. The party which is in power is only the agent of the people. It is the people who elect the Government. If the Government does a wrong thing, it is the right thing for the House to criticise it.
