1. Closure of schools in Visakhapatnam district

Sri K. GOVINDA RAO — Sir, my adjournment motion runs as follows

I beg to move that the House be adjourned to discuss a definite matter of urgent public importance, namely, the situation arising from the recent order of the Government to close down all the newly-started high schools in Visakhapatnam district.

The Hon. Sri S. B. P. PATTABHIRAMA RAO:—

The Hon. Sri S. B. P. PATTABHIRAMA RAO:
Mr. SPEAKER — In view of the answer of the Government there seems to be no further action necessary.

Sri K. GOVINDA RAO — High Schools are also having withdrawal, adjournment motion seems to be unnecessary. Whether the finances are such slender or not, the Hon. Minister says Government are going to consider this point, and so, no further action seems necessary now.

Sri B. KRISHNAMURTY RAO — Sir, I beg to move that the business of the House be adjourned to discuss an urgent matter of public importance, to discuss the incident on 1st May 1954 at Masulipatam, when an Hon. Member of this House, namely, Sri Pillala-marri Venkateswarlu, directed his followers to beat a student, who put questions to him, while addressing a public meeting which resulted in the actual beating of the student with sticks by Communists, and the failure of the Government to maintain law and order.

Sri T. NAGI REDDI:— The situation is very serious, and it is necessary to discuss the incident immediately. Meetings and adjournment motion disturb the proceedings of the House, and it is necessary to adjourn the House for the time being.
12th May 1954

Sri B. KRISHNAMURTHY RAO — Mr. Speaker, an urgent matter of public importance has been raised. According to the rules of the House, when a motion of this nature is raised, rules 3 & 4 of the House prevails and I must therefore request you to allow an explanation. The question raised is whether a student of Masulipatnam Hospital should be allowed treatment at Masulipatnam Hospital. The person who was aggrieved or involved was an M. L. A. himself.

I do not think a prima facie case has been made out. If it had been a M. L. A. who had been beaten, perhaps I would have admitted the motion. Here, it is only a private individual.

Mr. Speaker — The honourable Member will please take his seat. An adjournment motion to leave the House, does not allow for special circumstances to allow the same. The person who was aggrieved or who was involved was an M. L. A. himself.

The Hon. Sri T. VISWANATHAM:—rules non-official.

Sri B. KRISHNAMURTHY RAO:—(Rose up)

Mr. SPEAKER — clarification.

Sri B. KRISHNAMURTHY RAO:—

Mr. SPEAKER:—

The Hon. Sri S.B.P. PATTABHI RAMA RAO:—

At the outset, I would like to state that the idea of forming a University at Tirupati and utilising the funds of the Devasthanams for such educational purposes is neither new nor novel. As early as 1914, the late Mr. Justice T. V. Seshagiri Ayyar had a Bill enacted in the Madras Legislature for utilising the surplus funds of the Tirumalai Tirupati Deivasthanams for the maintenance of a Sanskrit School at Tirupati and also two English High Schools, one at Tirupati and another at Vellore. Subsequently in 1925, when the question of establishment of the Andhra University was under examination, the late Mr. Justice Sir T. Sadasiva Ayyar, who was then the President of the Hindu Religious Endowments Board submitted comprehensive proposals to Government for the formation of a University at Tirupati having jurisdiction over the Rayalaseema districts of Chittoor, Cuddapah, Anantapur, Kurnool and Bellary. He envisaged that this University should be a Hindu or Oriental University mainly associated with four branches of study, namely, 1. Sanskrit Literature, 2. Indian Philosophy, 3. Hindu religion and 4. Ayurveda. The Hindu religion is to comprise of instruction in vedic religion, religion according to Dharma Sastras, both Saivite and Vaishnavite Agamas, instruction in the rites and ceremonies observed by the various sub-divisions of the Hindu community, instruction in temple rituals and services and lastly instruction in some courses like Iconography and Fine Arts associated with religion such as sacred painting, sacred sculpture, sacred architecture, sacred music etc. He also sent up a detailed Bill for the purpose of incorporating therein necessary amendments to the Hindu Religious Endowments Act. But unfortunately, the scheme could not be proceeded with, as the Mahant, who was then the Vicharanakartha or otherwise known as the administrative Trustee of the Dava­sthhanams, and who had to take the initiative, declined to sponsor the scheme on the plea that he himself had filed a suit questioning the validity of the Hindu Religious Endowments Act itself. The Government therefore had no other alternative but to defer the proposal pending disposal of the suit. As is usual, in such cases, the litigation dragged on and the Government had to permit the affiliation of the colleges in the five Rayalaseema districts with the Madras University. We have no knowledge as to when the suit referred to was finally disposed of. Anyway, with the affiliation of the Colleges to the Madras University, the idea of forming a separate University at Tirupati receded to the background. It was forgotten till 1933 when the Tirupati Municipality reopened up the question, urging the Government to take up the scheme. Again, it was not possible to consider the proposal as it did not emanate from the Board of Trustees of the Devasthanam. In 1946 also, the question is said to have been examined but deferred ultimately.

Now, after the formation of the Andhra province in October 1953 including the Rayalaseema Districts, it has become imperative to disaffiliate the colleges in the districts of Chittoor, Cuddapah, Kurnool and Anantapur from the Madras University.

Mr. SPEAKER—Will the Hon. Minister take half an hour to finish his speech?

The Hon. Sri S. B. P. PATTABHIRAM RAO—No, Sir, it is all put together only five pages. If I am to speak extempore, I may take more time, further I am not keeping well; I will finish shortly.

A suggestion was made that these colleges might be affiliated to the Andhra University. This proposal, however, has not found favour with the public. One of the objections put forward is that the headquarters of the Andhra University is located at one corner of the State, more than 300 miles away from the Ceded Districts and as such it would not be possible for this University to look after properly the interests of the students of the colleges in these districts. Whether there is any basis for this or not, the apprehensions expressed are genuine and could not be brushed aside. Further, the Andhra University is even now having too many colleges affiliated with a total student strength of more than 20,000 and so it was felt that it would not be advisable for the University to take in the additional colleges in the Ceded Districts also. The need for a separate University for the Ceded Districts has thus become an all-important live issue. The question was first considered at a meeting of the Council of Ministers on 15-1-1954. A Ministerial sub-committee was formed to go into the question in detail and work out a tentative scheme. The views of the Director of Public Instruction and the Vice-Chancellor of the Andhra University were thereupon called for. They examined the proposal from all angles namely whether a second University is necessary for this State, if so, what type it should be, and what may be its constitution etc. Their reports were examined by the Ministerial Sub Committee on 3-2-1954 when, the Director of Public Instruction, the Vice-Chancellor, Andhra University and also the Executive Officer of the Tirumalai Tirupati Devasthanams, were present, by special invitation. The matter was then discussed threadbare. It was decided at the meeting that a two-man Expert Committee consisting of Sri S Govindarajulu Naidu, the Director of Public Instruction and Dr. K. Rangadhama Rao, Principal of the University Colleges, Waltair, should be constituted and that they should study the situation on the spot at Tirupati and submit detailed report. Their report was received some time in the last week of February. It was also released to the Press for publication. This report was considered by Government early in March. accepted most of the recommendations of the expert committee. They, however, decided that a start of the University should be made by the coming academic year, namely, July 1954. Dr. K. Rangadhama Rao was appointed as a Special Officer to take the necessary steps for ushering in the new University in July and draw up a Bill for the purpose. The draft Bill prepared by him was scrutinised in detail by the Secretariat. Later on a clause-by-clause examination was done by a committee consisting of my colleague the Minister for Finance and Law, myself, Dr. V. S. Krishna, the Vice-Chancellor of the University, the Director of Public Instruction, the Special Officer, and the Secretaries in the Education and the Law Departments. The draft Bill as modified by this Committee has been published in the gazette. It is this Bill that is now before you and which requires to be placed on the statute book of this State. I may add that though this Bill has been prepared with the greatest expedition, it has received the best attention of the Government and is quite thorough in all respects, having had the blessings and finishing touches of experts.

Before subjecting the Bill to detailed examination by this august Assembly, I may be permitted to say briefly a few words about its salient features. In the first place I may say that the drafting of the Bill closely follows the pattern of the Andhra University Act. But the Government have incorporated in it some of the useful provisions contained in the Madras University Act also so that the Bill has a happy blending of the best provisions in both the enactments. You will agree with me that no modern university can exist or function usefully without imparting instruction in the fundamental branches of physical and natural sciences—Physics, Chemistry and Botany or Geology, so that the students may keep pace with the latest rapid developments in these branches of learning, which practically regulate and mould our external day to day life. Provision has, therefore been made for the teaching of these subjects, though Sadasiva Ayyar's scheme of 1925, did not lay much emphasis on these subjects. In this connection, I may point out that not only these subjects but also other branches of Science like Agriculture, Mining, Metallurgy, Engineering etc. are taught in Benares Hindu University which is akin to the one to be started at Tirupati. It is the intention of the Government that the University at Tirupati should revive and teach our famous Sanskrit literature and Dharma Sastras etc. which form the source and fountainhead of our heritage, culture and traditions. The University at Tirupati is intended not merely to equip the students to face the turmoils of the present day civilised life but also give them intellectual food to develop their soul forces. The University will, therefore, provide for the teaching of our Vedantic literature, and our three renowned philosophies of Adwaita, Dwaita and Visishtadwairtha propounded by the savants, namely, Sri Sankaracharya, Sri Madhavacharya and Sri Ramanujacharya respectively. This University, in addition expects to provide for the revival and teaching of our ancient arts, architecture, music and other fine arts, which through lack of proper propagation appear to have become dormant, if not extinct by now. I may assert, hon. Members, that this is a distinctive feature of this University which is not provided for in any other University in our country. For this dual purpose of providing both the modern and ancient literature, arts, sciences and religion no better place can be thought of than at Tirupati, where, the most ancient shrine of Sri Venkateswara is located and where the students can receive their knowledge.
at the feet of the Lord in a religious and peaceful atmosphere. I feel confident that in the fitness of things, this great religious centre should also become a great centre of learning. Who can say that this new University may not in course of time become a centre for oriental learning for all eastern countries as the ancient Taxasila University of undying fame? The most significant feature of this University is that it is both a residential and affiliating University doing research work at the headquarters. I therefore request the Members to give this Bill their best attention in the same spirit in which it has been conceived. I now move that the Bill be taken into consideration by the Assembly for detailed examination.

[12th May 1954]

Sri PILLALAMARRI VENKATESWARLU - The extension of scope instructions to the House is to discuss.

Mr. SPEAKER - Extension.

Sri PILLALAMARRI VENKATESWARLU - It must be borne in mind, however, that the amendment, if agreed to, does not necessarily arrest the progress of the Bill, the second reading of which may be moved on another occasion. The technical effect of such an amendment is to supersede the question for now reading the Bill a second time, and the Bill is left in the same position as if the question for now reading the Bill a second time had been simply negatived or superseded by the previous question.

The purpose of a reasoned amendment is to give a mandate to the Select Committee.

The Hon. Sri T. VISWANATHAM:— SR. T. V. V. amendment (‘Affiliated’ amendment). Select Committee clause by clause special report. ‘Affiliated’ instructions. Basic point at issue sections consequential amendments automatic.

Mr. SPEAKER:— Let the discussion go on. I want to take some time to give a ruling. I will allow the amendment to be moved if I think it is admissible, it is of far reaching importance.
Sri PILLALAMARRI VENKATESWARLU.— You have got the right to disallow it at any time, even though it is moved now.

The Hon. Sri T. VISWANATHAM — Even if there is no amendment, all members are entitled to speak on the subject matter of the Bill. This is merely a technical nicety which Mr. Pillalamarri Venkateswarlu somehow discovered somewhere.

Sri PILLALAMARRI VENKATESWARLU — It is very wrong to say that it is a technical nicety.

The Hon. Sri T VISWANATHAM — It is a matter for gratitude.

Mr. SPEAKER:— It may be formally moved subject to its admissibility. I take it that all the amendments have been moved.

(At this stage Sri G. Nagabhushanam occupied the Chair.)

Sri VAVILALA GOPALAKRISHNAIAH.—
SRI VENKATESWARA UNIVERSITY BILL, 1934

(Sri Vavilala Gopala Krishna)

[12th May 1934]

This is from C. R. Reddi Committee's report.—

The Tirupati Oriental College should be transferred into a big Institute of Indology to be conducted in affiliation with the Andhra University.

That Research sections in Deccani history and Islamic culture be organised in the University.

The Anantapur College should be developed so as to have pass courses in B.A., B.Sc., and B.Com., on an up-to-date scale and it should be made possible for distinguished B. As. and B. Scs. of the Anantapur College to take up Honours and Post-Graduate courses at Waltair.

RECOMMENDATION:

larly known as Rayalseema and Chittoor and the Coastal districts, the re-amalgamation of the Western districts to the Andhra University is desirable and necessary and that in such re-affiliation, the proposals made by the Committee supra with a view to meeting the concrete educational problems of the areas concerned and to provide educational facilities for the Western districts to reach the requisite levels in higher education and to play a due part in the administration of the University be given effect to by Government with the least possible delay.

Mr. Ranga Reddi speaking for himself and others from Rayalaseema was of opinion that though at first he was opposed in principle to the re-amalgamation, he would in view of the concrete proposals now presented be prepared to change his opinion provided these recommendations, generally speaking, are accepted by Government as a statutory obligation. Amongst these recommendations, he would urge as specially important and immediate the organisation in the districts concerned the type of Intermediate Colleges adumbrated in these proposals.

The Chairman observed that an assurance from Government ought to suffice.

At this point the question was raised whether these colleges should be entirely financed by Government or whether the districts concerned should find a moiety of the expenditure.

It was argued that Government were maintaining five colleges outside Madras city in the southern districts and Malabar and so these colleges might be full Government colleges. The Committee hopes that the people also will come forward with donations.
This is what is stated by the Andhra Pradesh Congress Committee

"This committee is of the opinion that two University centres are to be developed under the Andhra University one at Waltair and the other at Anantapur, so as to distribute the centres of culture over the Andhra desa and create opportunities for social and cultural intercourse amongst the Andhras and locate colleges in areas favourable to the subjects dealt with".

This is what is stated in the Statement of Objects and Reasons attached to the Bill.

"Proximity to the University centre is a factor that should not be ignored. The location of the Andhra University at Waltair, practically at the northern end of the State has been felt very often by the general public belonging to the areas of the other end as a very real difficulty in promoting the educational development of the young students in that area. Many poor and middle class students have been prevented from taking advantage of the higher courses of study offered at Waltair on account of its distance. The situation demands the creation of a second University at some suitable place in the South and South-Western districts."

This is what the Special Officers appointed by the Government say:

"If we were free to suggest proceeding at a pace that would be academically sound, we would suggest starting an Honours College at Tirupathi and building it up for three or four years before we convert it into a teaching University."
I now quote from the Report of the University Education Commission —

'A university is more than a technical school. It should be a place for providing a student with opportunity for all round well proportioned education for effective living and for citizenship, in addition to preparation for a calling. It may occur that a university shall develop special strength in some particular field, as in engineering or industrial development or in teacher training or in forestry or fisheries. In fact, since no institution can be excellent in everything, it is desirable that areas of special strength be developed at least in all but perhaps the largest of our universities. However, these areas of special strength should be in addition to facilities for all round higher education, and should not be a substitute for such facilities. Unless an institution aims at providing such all round training it should continue as a technical institute and should not aspire to be a University.'
It is unfortunate for a university to be established to promote local or personal prestige. It should represent not only actual need but the probability that the use made of the institution and the support granted to it shall justify its establishment as a degree granting institution, and that its existence shall not hamper the emergence of a more representative or more necessary institution.
