DISCUSSION ON THE GOVERNOR'S ADDRESS

(Sri G. Yallamanda Reddi) [25th April, 1955]

Sri G. Nageswara Rao:—

Mr. Speaker:—Now we shall proceed to the discussion of the motion and the amendments. Sri Rajeswara Rao will now speak.

Sri P. Sundarayya:—

Sri L. Lakhsmana Das:——
Mr. Speaker,—For Mr. Sundarayya's information, so that he may not make a long speech, I would like to tell him that the conduct of elections is directed by the Election Commission. The Provincial Government has no place in it except to carry out the orders of the Election Commission. The first part which is omitted in Mr. Sundarayya's amendment relates to the putting in the number of the ballot paper against the name of each voter when the ballot paper was issued. That was done under the instruction issued by the Election Commission. This Government or this House is not in a position to amend those rules. That is why I deleted it; for it is a subject relating to the Government of India; and it is also found in the list pertaining to the Government of India.

Sri P. Sundarayya:—The smooth conduct of the election has won universal approbation and I am sure the House will join me in paying a well-earned tribute to all the officers. The amendment now stands, route buses and lorries relate to the Provincial subject, namely, road traffic. This is law and order. So I find these two things relevant; and so far as the rule relating to the putting in of the number of the vote against the voter's name while the ballot paper was issued, it was done under the rules issued by the Election Commission; and we are not in a position to amend those rules. As such no discussion would be relevant, or would serve any useful purposes.

(Sri P. Sundaraya) [25th April, 1955]

Mr. Speaker:—I omitted that clause for the reason that it is too vague. Unless you bring specific cases of coercion and oppression, or any of the other kind, it is vague and so I omitted it; and the second clause in the amendment, as it stands, will give you sufficient opportunity to discuss the subject. So let us close the discussion on this matter. The hon Member will be allowed to refer to it in his speech. Now Mr. Rajeswara Rao will proceed with his speech.

DISCUSSION ON THE GOVERNOR’S ADDRESS

(Sri P. Venkatasubbayya) [25th April, 1955]

Sri Venkatasubbayya said:

Co-operative societies form an important component of the agricultural sector in the state. They provide support to farmers in the form of various inputs such as fertilizers, pesticides, seeds, and irrigation facilities. The state government has been encouraging the development of co-operative societies to maximize the benefits of farmers and improve their standard of living.

However, there have been instances of mismanagement in some co-operative societies, leading to losses for the members. One such instance was reported by the Central Bank, which led to the intervention of the committee. The Hon. Member interrupted the discussion by highlighting the need for regular inspection of co-operative societies to ensure efficient management.

In conclusion, the development of co-operative societies is crucial for the growth of the agricultural sector. The state government should continue to support and regulate these societies to ensure their sustainability and effectiveness.

Land reforms legislation is a departure from the past. The intelligent co-ordination of the activities of urban municipalities and Labour co-operative societies will ensure the development of welfare work. Uneconomic holdings should be abolished. Unnecessary agricultural income-tax should be abolished. The economic development will be sought through the development of ports, canals, irrigation, modernisation of agriculture, and the development of co-operative societies. The co-ordination of all such activities will ensure the economic development of the country. The economic development of the country will ensure the buoyancy of the country financially and otherwise.
[25th April, 1955] (Sri A Kaleswara Rao)

Sri Pragaça Kotaiah.—Sir, I feel that the Government has done a great deal of good work in the past few years. The income tax has been increased, and the financial position of the State has improved. I am sure that the Government is doing its best to improve the economic condition of the people. The Governor's Address is a very encouraging one.

The Government is not worth anything unless the people are satisfied. I hope that the Government will continue to do its best to improve the economic condition of the people. The Government should not postpone any important measures. The people are waiting for the Government to take action. The Government should lead the way.

The need for drainage improvement has been emphasized. The Governor has also pointed out the need for drainage improvement. The need for drainage improvement is urgent.

In the tank-bed lands account. As regards the existing abandoned tanks in the area, it is observed that an area of about 20,000 acres is abandoned. Among these, a number of tanks are in serious need of repair and maintenance. In the past, efforts have been made to rehabilitate these tanks, but due to various reasons, the work has not been completed. The government has decided to take up tanks for which the work has been completed and to ensure that they are maintained properly.

As regards the tank-bed lands, it is observed that they are underutilized. The reason for this is the lack of proper planning and management. It is suggested that Food Committees and District Planning Committees be constituted to look into the matter. The government has already taken steps in this direction.

Another point for consideration is the tannery work, which includes the production of boots, belts, and leather goods. The tannery work is an essential part of the industrial sector. The factories involved in the tannery work are making boots, belts, and leather goods. The market value of these products is crucial for the economy.

*Sri P. Satyanarayana:—The tannery industry is significant for the economy. The tannery industry employs thousands of people and provides income for their families.
