Short Notice Starred Questions.

Pay of village officers in the estates taken over by the Government.

120-A.

(Put by S. RANGANATHA MUDALIAR).

*365-C. Q.—SRI R. B. RAMAKRISHNA RAJU:—Will the Hon. the Minister for Revenue be pleased to state whether the Government have decided to enhance the pay of village officers in the estates taken over by the Government and when the effect will be given to the order?

THE HON. SRI K. CHANDRAMOULI:—

The proposal to enhance the pay of village officers in the estates taken over by the Government to the level of ryotwari scales is under the consideration of the Government. It will be given effect to as soon as a decision is taken in the matter by the Government.

SRI S. RANGANATHA MUDALIAR:—Will the salary proposed to be paid to these village officers be the same as that given to the village officers in the ryotwari villages?

THE HON. SRI K. CHANDRAMOULI:—After reorganisation and recognition of the clubbing of villages they would get what the other village officers get. The Government's intention is to bring them to the level of the Government scales.
Sri S. RANGANATHA MUDALIAR:—Will the salary be paid with effect from the date of taking over the estate by the Government?

The Hon. Sri K. CHANDRAMOULI:—The salary will be paid with effect from the date of taking over the estate by the Government.

Sri PILLALAMARRI VENKATESWARLU:—If the salary is paid with effect from the date of the Government taking over the estate, to whom will be paid?

The Hon. Sri K. CHANDRAMOULI:—To the present owner.

Sri PILLALAMARRI VENKATESWARLU:—Will the maximum limit of Rs. 30/- be paid?

The Hon. Sri K. CHANDRAMOULI:—Yes.

Sri P. VENKATASUBBAYYA:—To whom will the maximum limit of Rs. 30/- be paid?

The Hon. Sri K. CHANDRAMOULI:—To the present owner.

It is to be noted that the working expenditure of 1953-54 was 2,05,000, while in 1954-55 it was 6,35,700. The disparity is self-evident. Also, the betterment of the dispensary in 1953-54 was 13,000, whereas in 1954-55 it was 25,000. Incidentally, it is to be noted that betterment tax, which was 33,750 in 1953-54, has now been increased to 65,000 in 1954-55.

Sri B. Rama Reddi: — The levy of betterment contributory scheme is one of the important aspects of the irrigation bill. The scheme is intended to provide relief to the farmers who are affected by the irrigation projects. The scheme is designed to provide a limit on the betterment contributed by the farmers. The levy is exempted from the assessment of property. The levy is fixed at a rate of one paisa per acre.

[Sri V. V. Venkateswara Rau

In the House of the Legislature of the State of Andhra, on the 8th December 1955, the Bill for the betterment of the irrigation system of the Ananthapuri Division was introduced. The Bill was referred to a Select Committee for further consideration.

In the Bill, there are provisions for the levy of a betterment contribution on the landowners who benefit from the improved irrigation system. The betterment contribution is intended to be used for the maintenance and improvement of the irrigation system.

The Bill also provides for the establishment of an irrigation authority to administer the funds collected under the Bill.

The Bill is supported by a detailed explanation and includes provisions for the registration of the betterment contribution.

The Bill was passed by the Legislature and is now pending in the Assembly for further consideration.

(Levy of Betterment Contribution) Bill, 1935 (As amended by the Select Committee)

Sri V. Visweswara Rao

[31st December 1955]

The Andhra Irrigation Act of 1935 provides for the levy of a Betterment Tax. The levy is based on the value of the land and is intended to finance the maintenance of irrigation schemes.

Pumping schemes, which are essential for the irrigation of land, require regular maintenance. The Betterment Tax provides a source of revenue for this purpose.

In 1947, the rate of the Betterment Tax was increased to meet the rising costs of maintenance. The tax is collected by the department responsible for the maintenance of the irrigation schemes.

Water Cess is another source of revenue for the maintenance of irrigation schemes. Water Cess is levied on water users and is collected by the government.

The Andhra Irrigation Act of 1935 is an important piece of legislation that provides for the efficient and effective management of irrigation schemes in the state of Andhra Pradesh.

Sri G. YELLAMA N'A REDDI: Sir, the Select Committee has already accepted the principle of unearned properties which is the basis of Dalton theory. Unearned incomes should be treated as a case apart, as they are more productive. The Select Committee's decision is in accordance with the principle of unearned properties. Under the levy of betterment contribution, protective projects are to be treated separately from productive projects. The betterment tax serves as a protective tax on unearned properties. Productive projects are to be considered separately.

Sri G. Yellamanda Reddi

[3rd December 1955]

The Hon'ble Member of the Legislative Assembly, Sri G. Yellamanda Reddi, Mr. Speaker, the Select Committee was appointed by the Honourable Legislative Assembly on the 16th December last, to consider the Bill 54 [The Andhra Irrigation (Levy of Betterment Contribution) Bill, 1955] and to report the same to the Committee. The Committee has completed its consideration of the said Bill and now recommends the same to the House for approval. The Bill, as amended, is printed herewith.

The Bill is based on the principle that, in view of the improved conditions in the areas of irrigation, a further levy of betterment contribution is required to be made by the owners of farm lands. The levy will be charged on the increased value of the land due to the improvement in the irrigation facilities. The levy will be collected in two equal parts at the rates of one per cent and two per cent of the increased value of the land respectively. The levy will be paid by the owners of farm lands within 12 months from the date of the levy. The levy will be payable in four equal monthly instalments.

The Bill also provides for the payment of compensation to the owners of farm lands who have been assessed for the levy. The compensation will be paid in four equal monthly instalments. The compensation will be paid within 12 months from the date of the levy.

The Bill further provides for the establishment of a Betterment Levy Fund to which all the levies will be credited. The Fund will be used for the maintenance and improvement of irrigation works.

The Bill was introduced in the House on the 16th December last and was read a first time. The House referred the Bill to the Select Committee for consideration. The Committee held several sittings and completed its consideration of the Bill on the 17th December last. The Bill was reprinted with amendments and was read a second time on the same day.

The Bill, as amended, is now printed herewith and is recommended to the House for approval.

[By G. Yellamala - Rev...

In the context of land improvement, betterment levy is an important aspect. There have been modifications and amendments to the levy system over the years. The levy was initially designed to incentivize betterment in agriculture, and it has undergone significant changes to improve its effectiveness.

In recognition of the contributions of money lenders, there have been modifications to the levy system. Money lenders have been given incentives to encourage them to support betterment efforts. However, there have been concerns regarding the role of money lenders in the context of the levy system.

Money lenders have been advised to ensure that the levies are collected fairly and transparently. The committee has emphasized the need for strict enforcement of the levy regulations to prevent any malpractices.

Despite these efforts, there have been challenges in enforcing the levy system effectively. The committee has recommended measures to address these issues and to ensure that the levy system is fair and transparent.

In conclusion, while there have been modifications and amendments to the levy system over the years, there is still a need for continued efforts to ensure its effectiveness and fairness.

THE HON. Sri N. SANJEEVA REDDI:—Sir, I have given a number of examples. As I pointed out, it is shown that a leasehold 100 acres may be increased to 150 acres. For example, suppose the lease is for 100 acres at 20 rupees an acre. Then, for 50 acres for the extra 50 acres, the lease price would be 1,000 rupees. The total price would be 1,200 rupees instead of 200 rupees.

Sri P. SUNDARAYYA: Examples given.

The Hon. Sri N. Sanjeeva Reddi:—Sir, from the viewpoint of the tenant, it is an advantage. He is paying 1,200 rupees for 150 acres instead of 200 rupees for 100 acres. The tenant is getting additional 50 acres at 50 rupees an acre instead of 100 rupees an acre. The tenant is getting an advantage. The tenant will not object. This is a step in the right direction.

THE HON. SRI K. CHANDRAMOULI: — The Select Committee had decided a certain number of amendments to the Betterment Levy. It is not in the interest of the public to suggest any amendments that would increase the burden of the taxpayers. The Select Committee had considered the matter and decided to recommend the following amendments:

1. The Betterment Levy should be levied at a rate of 1% on the increased value of the land.
2. The levy should be limited to 10 years.
3. The levy should be exempted for lands used for agricultural purposes.

It is imperative that the amendments are accepted to ensure that the levy is not burdensome. The Select Committee had deliberated on the matter and decided to recommend the above amendments.

The amendments are in the best interest of the public and will ensure that the levy is just and fair.

The amendments will be presented to the House for consideration.

8th December 1955

THE HON. SRI K. CHANDRAMOULI :

The Hon. Sri K. Chandramouli:—The bill is for the purpose of levying a contribution in respect of betterment of land, i.e., increase in value, as a result of irrigation. The levy is to be made on all lands which have become bettered by the construction of irrigation works. The levy is to be made by assessing the increase in value of the land and charging a rate per acre. The rate is to be determined by the Select Committee and is to be fixed at a rate of 10 per cent of the assessed value.

The benefit of the levy is to be enjoyed by the owner of the land. The owner is to be paid a sum equal to the amount of the levy. The owner is also to be entitled to receive interest on the amount of the levy.

The bill provides for the registration of the levy and for the assessment of the increase in value of the land. The assessment is to be made by the Select Committee and is to be based on the market value of the land.

The bill also provides for the collection of the levy and for the enforcement of the provisions of the bill.

The bill is to be presented to the Governor-General for assent.

THE ANDHRA IRRIGATION
(Levy of Betterment Contribution) Bill, 1955 (As amended by the Select Committee)

[8th December 1955]

THE HON. SRI K. CHANDRAMOULI:—

SRI P. SUNDARAYYA:—

THE HON. SRI K. CHANDRAMOULI:—

SRI P. SUNDARAYYA:

"A sharp decline in agricultural prices will reduce incomes from lands and the payment of annual instalment of betterment levy may be rendered difficult. No provision for meeting such a situation seems to exist in the various State enactments, although the need for remissions is recognised when there is a breakdown in supply or the area is waterlogged, etc. The Andhra Bill empowers Government to exempt any case or class of cases from the operation of the levy when its enforcements causes hardship. This gives wide discretion to the State Government. It would be advisable in our view for all states to provide for specific relief in times of steep price fall. The relief should ordinarily take the form of postponing the instalments, and where the decline in prices is steep and continuous for a number of years outright remissions may, we consider, have to be granted.'

Clear × discretionary powers if we consider, have to be granted. If we consider, have to be granted.

SRI VAVILALA GOPALAKRISHNAYYA:—Hon'ble, as I see, the remissions are to be given only in cases of steeply declining prices. The relief should ordinarily take the form of postponing the instalments, and where the decline in prices is steep and continuous for a number of years outright remissions may, we consider, have to be granted.

Mr. SPEAKER:—It will be an incentive for advance payment.
THE ANDHRA IRRIGATION
(Levy of Betterment Contribution) Bill, 1955 (As amended by the Select Committee)

3rd December 1955

SRI VAVILALA GOPALAKRISHNAYYA:—We feel that Advance payment to the tune of an incentive 10% of the betterment levy shall not exceed 90 thousand rupees.
A 9% rebate on the amount of 9% of the betterment rate shall be applicable to the amount payable. Incentive and rebate shall be applicable to the amount re Pays. Extra amount shall be paid. Advance amount shall be paid in 3 installments. The rate of interest shall be 6%.

Sri K. CHANDRAMOULI:—In my opinion, the betterment levy bill should be amended to increase the rate limit to 20 years. Valuation shall be deemed to be argued in the same manner.

Valuation shall be deemed to be the valuation as of the date of

valuation as of the date of
"If, in the opinion of the Government, enforcement of all or any of the provisions of this Act will cause hardship in any case or cases, the Government, may by notification, setting out the ground therefor, exempt either permanently or for a specified period, such case or cases from all or any of the provisions of this Act, subject to such conditions, if any, as the Government may deem fit to impose."

Mr. SPEAKER: The question is:

"In sub-clause (1) of clause 11, for the words ‘not exceeding twenty’ in line 8 substitute ‘not less than twenty but not exceeding thirty.’"

The amendment was lost.
Mr. SPEAKER: The question is:

"For sub-clause (2) of clause 11, substitute the following:

'No interest charge shall be levied on the amount of betterment contribution to be paid by an owner.'"

The amendment was lost.

Mr. SPEAKER: The question is:

"Add a new proviso (4) as follows:
