[26th March 1956]

The Hon. Sri K. VENKATA RAO: — 280 is a very important number. It indicates the number of seats which are to be filled. What is the significance of these numbers?

Sri L. LAKSHMANA DAS: — 280 is the number of seats which are to be filled. It is an important figure as it indicates the number of seats which are to be filled. The number of seats is directly proportional to the number of voters. The number of seats will be increased to the number of voters.

The Hon. Sri K. VENKATA RAO: — 280 is the number of seats which are to be filled. It is an important figure as it indicates the number of seats which are to be filled. The number of seats is directly proportional to the number of voters.

Sri N. C. SESHADRI: — Admissions to polytechnic schools are governed by the principle of merit. What is the merit of a student?

The Hon. Sri K. VENKATA RAO: — The merit of a student is determined by the standard of education. The standard of education is determined by the number of students who are eligible to study in the polytechnic school.

Sri S. VEMAYYA: — The number of seats available in the polytechnic school depends on the number of students who are eligible to study in the polytechnic school.

The Hon. Sri K. VENKATA RAO: — The number of seats available in the polytechnic school depends on the number of students who are eligible to study in the polytechnic school.

Sri P. VENKATASUBBAYYA: — The constituent representation of the polytechnic school is very important. It is a matter of great concern.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

26th March 1956]

SRI S. VEMAYYA :— It is a hypothetical question.

THE HON. DR. B. GOPALA REDDI :— In the case of aided schools 3 teachers are working in each school. The school management takes care of the teachers. In this connection, the Hon. the Deputy Chief Minister is pleased to state:

whether the Nellore District Planning Board submitted a scheme now to widen the supply channel relating to the Kanigiri reservoir which cultivates an area of one lakh of... acres of land and to remodel the tunnels under the Reservoir according to the ayacut?

THE Hon. Sri N. SANJEEVA REDDI:—

The answer is in the affirmative.

Sri S. VEMAYYA:—There is agitation among the tenants in the name of remodelling and repairs. Can the Chief Engineer give an assurance that repairs and remodelling are not contemplated?

THE Hon. Sri N. SANJEEVA REDDI:—A special sub-division has been created under the Chief Engineer by Order. A special order has been issued. The status of Division is as per the order.

Sri SHEIK MOULA SAHEB:—Is it true that the reservoir will be expanded by a decree of the Chief Minister?

THE Hon. Sri N. SANJEEVA REDDI:—No, the reservoir will not be expanded.

Sri G. YELLAMANDA REDDI:—The Planning Board has sent proposals for the expansion of sub-division. Are these proposals contemplated?

THE Hon. Sri N. SANJEEVA REDDI:—Yes, they are feasible in the future.

Retrenchment of staff in clerical and subordinate services.

* 313 Q.—Sri M. MUNISWAMY:—Will the Hon. the Chief Minister be pleased to state:

Medium of instruction in the Basic Training School at Alur.

* 553 Q. — SRI G. BUSSANNA: — Will the Hon. the Chief Minister be pleased to state:

(a) whether Kanarese is also the medium of instruction in the Basic Training School at Alur in Kurnool District; and

(b) if not, why?

THE HON. DR. B. GOPALA REDDI: —

(a) The answer is in the negative.

(b) The question of introducing Kanarese as medium of instruction in the Government Basic Training School, Alur has not been felt and considered in the past.

SRI PILLALAMARRI VENKATESWARLU: — No, No, the point is this, whereas the current provision is about Minimum number of students 10 or 15 fixed, the number of students in High School 16 or 18, so why not the same number of students for Alur school also? Is there any minimum number of students requirement?

THE HON. DR. B. GOPALA REDDI: — Yes, there is, the minimum number of students is 10 or 15. The school has to maintain that minimum number. The question of the medium of instruction cannot be considered unless there is a minimum number of students.

Sri G. NAGESWARA RAO:—The supplementary budget has been introduced in the Assembly with the approval of the House. Irrigation is one of the important aspects of the supplementary expenditure. The Chief Engineer, Asstt. Engineer, and Head of the Irrigation Department have prepared the supplementary budget for minor irrigation works. The Chief Engineer has informed that the budget includes the construction of two dams and the remodeling of two existing ones. The Chief Engineer has also informed that a localization scheme is being revised to reduce the dependency on imported staff. The revised localization scheme will be implemented in 57 selected areas for the second crop. Medical facilities are being extended to localized areas. A Lady Doctor has been appointed in the medical department. The order for the Lady Doctor has been issued. Patients will now be treated by the Lady Doctor. The Lady Doctor will be treated with respect and dignity. She will have the same rights as any other doctor.

THE HON. DR. B. GOPALA REDDI:—Hon. Member of the House. Sir, may I have the attention of the House? Mr. Speaker, it is incumbent upon us, as a responsible body, to see that the money voted, is used for the purpose for which it is intended. The Supplementary Statement of Expenditure, which has been placed before us today, contains proposals for the local development works in various parts of the State. The Districts which have been chosen for development works are: Mysore, Mangalore, Belgaum, Bijapur, and Bellary. The projects included in the Supplementary Statement of Expenditure for 1955-56, are: (1) Local Development works, (2) III Form Works, (3) Petromax lights, and (4) Supplementary Demands.

SRI L. LAKSHMANA DAS:—Sir, I would like to refer to the Supplementary Statement of Expenditure for 1955-56. I wish to draw the attention of the House to the fact that the projects included in the Supplementary Statement of Expenditure are of great importance to the people of this State. The Local Development works include the construction of roads, bridges, and other public utilities. The III Form Works are designed to improve the existing educational facilities. The Petromax lights are to be installed in various parts of the State to provide better illumination. The Supplementary Demands are necessary to meet the exigencies of the public service.

SRI E. NAGAYYA:—Sir, I consider the Supplementary Demands as essential for the proper functioning of the Government. They are necessary to meet the increased demands of the people. I would like to urge the Government to consider these demands seriously and provide the necessary funds.

MR. SPEAKER:—Thank you, Hon. Members. The House will now adjourn for the day.

8. It is being observed that although several irrigation schemes have been sanctioned and funds have been released, the actual progress in implementation has been slower than anticipated. The main reasons for this delay are:

(a) inadequate technical advice provided by the Technical Advisers,
(b) lack of funds for the implementation of the projects,
(c) insufficiency of personnel and equipment,
(d) poor management and control,
(e) inadequate supervision and monitoring.

It is recommended that:

1. Funds be released on a timely basis.
2. Technical advice be provided promptly.
3. Personnel and equipment be adequate and properly maintained.
4. Proper management and control be implemented.
5. Supervision and monitoring be strengthened.

Record of incremental irrigation for the years 1952 to 1955 has been maintained. The following are the increments:

In conclusion, it is recommended that steps be taken to improve the implementation of irrigation schemes.

SUPPLEMENTARY STATEMENT OF

26th March 1956

[Sri T. Ramachandra Reddy]

The honorable member has informed me that he has not received a copy of the budget for the fiscal year 1956-57 in time to study it thoroughly. He has requested that the Finance Minister should place on the table a copy of the budget for his consideration. I am informed that the Finance Minister has informed the honorable member that he has not received a copy of the budget.

I have no information as to the reason for this delay in the presentation of the budget. It is my understanding that the budget is presented to the House on the first day of the session, and that it is the responsibility of the Finance Minister to ensure that it is presented at that time.

In the meantime, the Finance Minister has informed the House that he will present the budget on the first day of the session, and that he will make every effort to ensure that it is presented in time.

I believe that it is important for the House to have a copy of the budget in order to consider it fully. It is my hope that the Finance Minister will be able to present the budget on the first day of the session, as was the case in previous years.

I am confident that the Finance Minister will do everything in his power to ensure that the budget is presented on the first day of the session, and that it is considered fully by the House.

I am grateful for the opportunity to speak on this important matter, and I look forward to hearing the views of other members of the House on this issue.

The Hon'ble Member for Sirumugai 203 has put a question and discussion on the supplementary estimates for the year 1955-56. The estimates have been as follows:

1. Rs. 4,50,000 for irrigation works.
2. Rs. 1,00,000 for investigation works.
3. Rs. 2,50,000 for repair and maintenance works.
4. Rs. 3,00,000 for project works.

The Planning Commission has considered and approved these estimates. The irrigation department has also submitted a report on the water potential works for the Delta area. The project is expected to be completed by the end of the year. The Special Officer and the Ways department have also been asked to submit their report on the project.

Sri R. B. RAMAKRISHNA RAJU:—May I explain, Sir, with your permission. It is not at all my wish that the Government should suffer from paralysis. What I said was this. I showed a number of instances where the Government have brought in a number of new services from January to October 1955. Is it not possible for the Government to ask for supplementary grants in July last when we met? Cannot they ask in August or November? The Government have got full power to come forward with new services and nobody can deny it. But, can they not tell us before hand, ‘these are the new services we have in hand and this is the amount we require’? That is all my complaint. It is not my idea that the Government should keep quiet with folded hands.

Then, the Hon. Chief Minister and Finance Minister is never tired of saying ‘that we want money’. Everybody agrees that we want money. But the question is what we should do to get money. The Hon. Chief Minister says: ‘You give money and I will do a thing.’ But, what I say is, ‘You do something to catch the imagination of the people and to enable us to go and tell the people, ‘this is what our Government is doing for you; we have brought so many lakhs of rupees for your roads, schools and colleges, so, you give money.’ Therefore, which should come first is only my complaint. The Government are now taking Rs 15.0 crores for capital expenditure. Can they not spare Re. 1.0 crore for roads, at Rs. 10.0 lakhs for each of the 11 districts? Let the Government do that and I promise that I will get all the money that they want.

Forest Department and Forest Department estates are managed by the Conservator and Deputy Conservators. The Conservator called a conference to take over estates and the following points were discussed. Time was allowed for a 10-day trial period, after which the Conservator appointed the contractors for the departmental exploitation. The contractors then took over the estates. Contract for the experimental cultivation was given. The experiment was supervised. Old manuals were revised and Working plans for the Forest Department were prepared. The Regional Conservators were appointed. Working plans were prepared for the priority areas. The East Godavari area was worked out to be 50 acres and the West Godavari area to be 20 acres. Reform was carried out. The experiments were conducted. The results were encouraging. The separation of the judiciary from the executive was discussed.

III. GOVERNMENT MOTION.

Sri VAVILALA GOPALAKRISHNAYYA :—Deficit financing of the Second Five Year Plan.

Deficit financing is a method of raising funds to cover the gap between revenue and expenditure. It involves borrowing money from various sources, such as banks or international organizations, to finance the deficit. This method ensures that the government's plans remain on track despite financial constraints.

The government needs to ensure that deficit financing is sustainable and does not lead to excessive debt. It is important to keep a balanced budget and avoid relying heavily on borrowing.

Mr. SPEAKER.—The House then adjourned.

Sri S. Brahmayya

[26th March 1956]

In this part of the Second Five Year Plan, the emphasis is on improving the irrigation facilities for efficient farming. The Plan seeks to increase the irrigated area to 100,000 acres, and there is a focus on developing additional irrigation facilities. The Plan also aims to increase the production of rice and other crops. It is hoped that these efforts will lead to increased food production and self-sufficiency.

The Plan includes the development of new irrigation projects and the expansion of existing ones. The use of modern technology and methods is emphasized to ensure the success of the Plan. The Plan also includes measures to improve the quality of life in rural areas through the provision of necessary facilities.

In conclusion, the Second Five Year Plan is a comprehensive effort to improve the livelihoods of the people in the region. Its implementation will require the cooperation of all stakeholders, including the government, farmers, and other interested parties. The Plan is expected to bring about significant changes in the region, making it a model for sustainable development.
DRAFT OUTLINE OF THE SECOND FIVE YEAR PLAN

26th March 1956

[Sri S. Brahmayya]

as though they are non-Congressmen and some of the non-Congress people speaking as though they are Congress people. Sir, I am not a Congressman myself and to day I am going to speak like a non-Congressman.

Sir, the atmosphere outside is very hot, the atmosphere inside is very hot and I am having a little temperature myself. Sir, if I am going to give you something hot, I would request you to keep yourselves calm and cool and take it in the spirit in which it is meant.

Sir, at the outset, I owe an apology to you Sir and the Hon Members of this House for speaking in English, for some of the Hon Members might not be able to follow me. But Sir, I have been trained up and educated in English and unfortunately, I am not able to express so effectively and freely as I can do it in English, to which language I am a bit accustomed.

Sir, to-day, I am going to tell the House what the man in the street feels, thinks and says about the Government and the Second Five Year programme. I know Sir, that what I am going to speak is going to fall flat on people who want to be intentionally blind and deaf to realities and who have developed a certain kind of immunity to all kinds of attacks which are levelled against them.

Sir, this Second Five Year programme after pruning and pruning has come down to 118 crores, and, I hope, there would not be any further pruning. Sir, from this amount what is actually going to be spent is only 50 per cent on constructive works, because 25 per cent has got to be set apart towards mamools of the officers and profits of the contractors. 25 per cent has to be set apart for transport charges etc. So what is exactly going to be spent is going to be somewhere about 50 crores. Sir, considering the infant stage of Andhra and the backwardness of Rayalaseema in all spheres, I feel that this amount is practically negligible. Sir, in the composite State, step-motherly treatment was given to Andhra. While a little attention was paid to the Circar Districts, practically the districts of Rayalaseema were utterly neglected. Sir, to-day, if we compare the advancement of the Madras State, industrially, economically and educationally, I am sorry to observe that we stand nowhere. If we go to any town in the south, we find that it is very much advanced industrially as well as economically. What is the condition of Andhra State? Sir, it is certainly deplorable and I should think that this is a diseased limb in the body politic of the country and it is high time that the Central Government realises and comes to the rescue of Andhra.

Sir, the progress in the First Five Year programme is next to nothing, considering the vastness of the State and the population and what is sought to be done in the Second Programme is merely a show and a mockery. Sir, Rayalaseema, because it is a backward area was a mill-stone round the neck of Andhra and with the advent of Visalandhra, Telangana is going to be a second mill-stone round the neck of Andhra. With these two mill-stones around our neck, Sir, we will have to drag on. But I believe Sir, that the Government like the barber’s chair which can adjust itself to the pin-buttocks, to the fat-buttocks and the round-buttocks will certainly adjust itself to the changing conditions and circumstances of the times. Sir, for the successful implementation of the Second Five Year programme, there is a great responsibility on the people, and I feel, that there is a greater responsibility on the Government and its officers who have to execute this plan.

Sir, what is the kind of leadership that we have got today. We want leadership which will be able to inspire confidence, trust, belief in the minds of people and make them come forward in large numbers to make this Second Five Year Programme a success. Sir, it is the misfortune of Andhra in having too many leaders without following. There is no towering personality with intellectual brilliance, courage, imagination, prudence, foresight and forethought who can lead the people. Sir, scientists and psychologists say—and I have no reason why I should disbelieve—that the most handsome people in the world have got some feminine touches about them in their features and in their movements. Sir, Milton in the 17th century was considered to be a very handsome personality. Napoleon was considered to be a very fine personality, and Vivekananda of our own country was considered to be a very beautiful person. Sir, Milton was the greatest poet next to Shakespeare in English literature. What kind of leadership do we require for the successful implementation of the Five year Programme? Sir, Napoleon was the greatest soldier-statesman which the world has known and Vivekananda was the greatest Hindu religious philosopher and teacher who has revitalised Hindu religion and made the westerners open their eyes towards the greatness of Hindu religion. Sir, what is the greatness that we are able to discover in our leader who is to-day able to control the destinies of the Andhra State? Sir, I purposely do not give the names. I am throwing out the cap and let him to whom it fits wear it. Sir, what is the greatness about him? The greatness about him is his culture, love and romance and is fond of honey-mooning all his life. Excuse me, Sir, I am going to be a bit harsh. Sir, a gentleman who would not hesitate to bury 100 fathoms deep all those from whom he has received support and help so that they might not raise their heads and then walk over their graves dramatically and perpendicularly. Sir, he is living in a fairy land surrounded by sycophants and satellites who are out for fishes and loaves and who are making hay while the sun shines. Sir, by his bewitching qualities, he could attract not only men but even Goddess of power. But like all men, even Goddess of power has realised her mistake and very soon She is going to file a suit for divorce. Sir, his reception is cold, his treatment is not pleasing and his farewell is anything but satisfactory. Sir, while the gentleman is honey-mooning in a fairy-land, others are deeply immersed in power politics and group politics. Brisk canvassing for coming leadership of Visalandhara has already begun. Sir, some of you have been accusing the Communist friends of murders, arson and loot. Sir, I want you to remember the innumerable political murders you people have committed, and I want you to repent, for that is the only way of atoning for all your political sins.

Sir, of course, we are very glad and I should think very fortunate in having as our Planning Minister, as I said on a previous occasion while this Second Five Year Programme was under discussion, a man with a very sharp and keen intellect, a man who has cool head and warm heart throbbing under a rough exterior and who has been unjustly maligned and sinned against rather than sinning Sir, I hope that God will be gracious enough to spare him for many more years that the country might use his brains for the improvement of the country. Sir, I have been a bit harsh. Kindly take the spirit and intention behind it for, the idea behind being to correct all those who are going astray I do not mean to say that by pointing out your defects, you are devoid of all virtues Sir, I appeal to you to rise yourselves from the mire of private interest to contemplation of virtue and put your hand to removal of all evils which are sticking on to your Government and the party to which you belong.

Thank you, Sir.

The objections that have been raised to the Second Five Year Plan are valid. Some of them are justified and they must be given due consideration. The Planning Commission has taken cognizance of these objections and has given appropriate consideration to them. The Second Five Year Plan must be flexible enough to adjust itself to changing conditions. The Plan must be reviewed from time to time and necessary adjustments must be made.

190 DRAFT OUTLINE OF THE SECOND FIVE YEAR PLAN

Sri Pragada Kotaiah
[26th March 1956]

The second five-year plan is designed to accelerate industrial growth, improve agricultural productivity, and expand the service sector. The plan focuses on infrastructure development, education, and health services.

Agriculture will receive significant attention, with investments in irrigation, farm mechanization, and soil conservation. The plan also includes initiatives to increase rural electrification and improve road networks.

The industrial sector will be bolstered through the establishment of new industrial zones and the expansion of existing industries. Special emphasis will be placed on the development of small-scale industries.

The service sector, including education, health, and social services, will be strengthened to meet the growing needs of the population. The plan aims to improve access to primary education and expand vocational training programs.

The national development fund will be utilized to finance major projects. The fund will be managed by a committee consisting of representatives from various government departments.

In conclusion, the second five-year plan is a comprehensive strategy aimed at transforming the economy and improving the quality of life for all citizens. The plan involves significant investments and will require the cooperation of all stakeholders to be successful.

STATE PLANNING COMMITTEE

The State Planning Committee has already started work on the Second Five Year Plan. The plan details are being worked out at the State level. The Revised State Plan has been revised, and work is being done on the details of the plan. The State Planning Committee has been constituted to work on the plan. The Planning Committee is working on the plan details. The State Planning Committee has been constituted to work on the plan. The Planning Committee is working on the plan details.
A comprehensive scheme of road development has been drawn up balanced as between different categories of roads. Want of proper communications hampers the marketing of agricultural produce and the obtaining of fair return and hinders the growth of the general economy. This will be corrected by the provision of key roads in the villages serving as feeders to the main arteries of communication.

"... and so on..."
Mr. Speaker, Sir, while commending in general terms the draft Second Five Year Plan now before us I would take this opportunity to offer a few observations on the implication of the basic industrial policy envisaged in the draft plan. The objectives of the plan are stated to be an increased income, a corresponding increase in the standard of living, rapid industrialisation creating more opportunities for employment and reducing inequalities in income, and I have no doubt that all these four objectives are inter-related. When we want to achieve the first two objectives naturally there should be increased production and increased industrial development and increased industrial development creates new opportunities for employment. I would request...........

Mr. SPEAKER:—He can speak in any language he chooses. Nobody can curtail his right.

Sir M. RAJESWARA RAO:—Sir, industries are widely talked of as playing a very important role in the Second Five Year Plan. But when I look at the figures I am really surprised at the amount allotted for industries in the draft plan. For it constitutes only 19 per cent of the total amount. So I cannot understand, under the circumstances, how we can achieve the two objectives if industries are allowed to grow at this rate. Besides the scanty provision for industries, I am very much worried about one thing, and that is the growing tendency among some of our important leaders to subordinate their own convictions on national economy—mean the interest of national economy—to fissiparous political agitations of a temporary nature. Things which are basically national in character are turned down as anti-national in character on political grounds. Sir, it is only due to this subordination of convictions on national economy to fissiparous tendencies of a political nature that is responsible for laying too much emphasis on cottage industries, and my friend is justified in referring to the importance of the cottage industries. Sir, it is common knowledge that ‘cottage industries’ means reduced production and colossal sacrifice of the consumers and the continuance of the antiquated social order of a communal nature. So, Sir, I cannot understand this spoon feeding of cottage industries unless it is only a stop-gap device, a temporary expedient, an ad hoc measure to support cottage industries, until major industries grow in numbers. Now I ask the question, as to what made the Government of India or the Planning Commission—whenever it is—to lay so much emphasis on cottage industries. Is it because they produce more economically than what the mills produce, or is it because that they produce better goods than what the mills produce, or is it because they produce cheaper goods than the mills produce? I want an answer. But I am afraid that the Planning Commission or the person responsible for the framing of this plan was influenced by Sri V. L. Mehta, the President of the All India Khadi Board. For he said that mill production should be stopped.

Sir, then the question arises as to how we can solve the unemployment problem. My only submission is this: We cannot sacrifice 100 persons in our anxiety to save one person. If we cannot provide employment through industries let us tap other resources which will not come into conflict with the productive capacity of the industries. I therefore venture to say that the conception of an equal emphasis on both cottage and major industries is not only conflicting but an illusion. It is mysterious to think that India will be able to reconcile the exacting demands of an atomic age and a nuclear era and a synthetic revolution with the imaginary virtues of a by-gone epoch, represented by man-made goods as opposed to machine-made goods. The vision of a peaceful and contented countryside is conjured up, while in fact there being no intention to cut adrift from the world current clearly shows a tendency towards a new kind of industrial revolution. Hon Members are well aware of the importance of industry to this country. If we look into the figures of 1954-55 we find that the total net value of the export of leather goods in India came to 26.1 as against 35.2 in 1951-52. While this is the position, the Planning Commission have not carefully thought of this aspect of the matter. Besides, Sir, in the Plan it is shown that the total requirements of finished leather goods in the country at the end of the Plan period is 100 million pairs. But the productive capacity of the existing mills in our country is only 5.97. It is expected to increase production by 2.2 millions, thus making the total 8.1 million pairs of shoes at the end of the Plan Period. Now, Sir, while this is the position, I shall also submit that about 35 lakhs of people of this country are entirely dependent on tanning industry. Again I have to submit that there is a lot of deficiency in leather goods and when we require 92 million pairs of shoes at the end of the Plan period, what made the Government of India export so much of raw leather goods, I mean, to the tune of 34.2 crores and import finished goods. So another aspect of the question is that 35 lakhs of people are thrown out of employment by the sudden closure of several tanneries in several centres due to the lack of support from the Government, and therefore, Sir, any Plan which does not envisage providing employment for the 35 lakhs of people cannot be commended by a representative of these unfortunate victims. I have been making representations year after year to the Planning Commission and the State and Central Governments. I hope our Hon Minister for Planning would use his good offices to secure a fair treatment to these persons who are thrown out of employment.

So far as distribution is concerned I will submit only one thing. Distribution is as important as production itself in the improvement of our national economy. Therefore my only wish is that there should be a fair treatment to the producer as well as to the consumer so far as distribution is concerned. While I cannot give any concrete suggestion as to the device by which that fair treatment can be meted out I can only commend the revival of the producer-cum-consumer co-operative societies as envisaged by our veteran Andhra leader.
26th March 1956

Then, Sir, I come to my last point. Whenever I think of national development I am always confronted with one problem. That is the magnitude of the problem of population in this country. I am reminded of the application of the Malthusian theory of population. It is stated in the Plan that the population of the country is growing from 45.5 to 50 lakhs every year. At this rate the population of the country would be double after a period of sixty years. It has been envisaged in the Plan that the Government are going to provide employment to 18 lakhs of people every year, that is, fifty per cent of the new growth. I request the Government in all earnestness, to understand the implications of this matter. The Malthusian theory of population is known to all people. While population increases in geometrical proportion, that is, 1, 2, 4, 8, 16 etc., the means of subsistence increases in arithmetical proportion only that, is, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 and so on. This appears to be a race between the hare and the tortoise. Unless we stop the hare at some stage the tortoise cannot reach it. So I feel the Planning Commission unfortunately without carefully examining this question of population went on increasing food products and also of creating employment for 18 lakhs of people. I submit at some stage the Law of Diminishing Return will certainly operate, and we will once again be confronted with the same old question. I wish, Sir, that this problem is carefully examined, i.e. the prevention of unusual growth of population, either by suitable legislation or some effective preventive checks. In no other way can we solve this problem. I hope the Planning Commission and the Government will examine this aspect in all seriousness before finalising the draft plan. Thank you, Sir.
Mr. SPEAKER:—That is why family planning is recommended to you.

SRI C. SUBBARAYUDU:—I think, Sir, if we take all the responsibilities of the family, the country is going to be burdened again. Family planning is a necessity for the development of the country.

This is why I am saying that scientific research must be encouraged. If we do not encourage scientific research, we cannot develop our country. We must encourage scientific research. I am confident that scientific research will bring about a transformation in our country.

Socialistic pattern of society is to be achieved in the Second Five Year Plan. Basic industries like machinery and atomic energy are to be industrialised. cottage and small industries are to be promoted. National savings are to be encouraged. Agricultural production is to be increased. Rice milling is to be improved. Hand pounding of rice is to be abolished. Rice millers are to be provided with expellers. Policy is to be formulated for the production of basic industries.

The production of edible fats and oils, which are a source of essential fatty acids, is at present very low. The main edible fats and oils are ghee, butter, cheese, and cream. However, the production of these fats and oils is insufficient to meet the demands of the people. The government has taken steps to increase the production of edible fats and oils. The production of edible fats and oils is being increased through the following measures:

1. Establishment of creameries.
2. Production of ghee, butter, and cheese.
3. Production of cream milk and curd.

The following measures have been taken to increase the production of edible fats and oils:

1. Establishment of creameries: 22 creameries have been established in the country. 12 out of these 22 creameries have been established in the rural areas. 7 creameries have been established in the semi-rural areas. These creameries are producing a large amount of cream milk and curd. 4 creameries are producing ghee, 2 creameries are producing butter, and 1 creamery is producing cheese. The total production of cream milk and curd is 32,000 tons. The production of ghee is 10,000 tons. The production of butter is 25,000 tons. The production of cheese is 5,000 tons. The production of cream milk and curd is increasing every year. The demand for cream milk and curd is increasing every year.

Draft Outline of the Second Five Year Plan

This outline is prepared in accordance with the instructions given by the Chairman of the First Meeting of the Planning Commission, Mr. B. Palaniapan.

1. The Second Five-Year Plan covers the years 1956-1960 and is based on the Third Five-Year Plan, 1951-1956. The Plan is designed to meet the needs of the people and the economy of the country.

2. The Plan is divided into four broad sectors: agriculture, industry, mining, and services. Each sector has specific goals and objectives.

3. The agriculture sector aims to increase food production through improved techniques and inputs. The industry sector focuses on modernizing existing industries and establishing new ones.

4. The mining sector seeks to explore and develop new mineral resources. The services sector aims to improve public services and infrastructure.

5. The Plan includes measures to reduce unemployment, improve education, and enhance health care.

6. The Plan also aims to foster regional development and collaboration between different states and regions.

7. The Plan is to be implemented through a combination of municipal and state funds, with support from international organizations and donor countries.

In conclusion, the Second Five-Year Plan is a comprehensive strategy to transform India's economy and improve the quality of life of its people. It is guided by the principle of self-reliance and emphasizes the importance of rural development and agricultural progress.

[26th March 1956]

Socialistic Pattern of Society

Socialistic Pattern of Society was seen as a necessary step to ensure a just and equitable distribution of resources and opportunities. Efforts were made to transform the traditional patterns of agriculture, cottage industries, and other economic activities to fit into the socialist framework. The goal was to nationalise land, forests, and other resources to ensure equitable access to the masses. Joint liability and joint family were advocated to foster a sense of collective responsibility. The development of local industries was encouraged, and national extension blocks were established to promote local development works.
26th March 1956

[Mr. B. Ratnasabapathy]

The current draft of the second five-year plan is enclosed. The current draft outlines the strategies for the next five years. The current draft emphasizes the importance of local development works as a key component of the plan.

Local development works can include infrastructure projects, education, and healthcare, among other things. The current draft aims to balance the needs of the local community with the larger economic goals of the country.

The current draft also stresses the importance of sacrifice in achieving the goals of the plan. Sacrifice can come in various forms, such as the improvement of materials, labor, and capital. The current draft highlights the need for maximum, minimum, and average levels of sacrifice to be achieved.

Capitalist and Socialist sectors of the economy are interrelated in the current draft. The current draft acknowledges the need for cooperation between these sectors to ensure a smooth transition.

Agricultural sector is a significant component of the current draft. The current draft calls for an increase in agricultural productivity through improved techniques and higher yields. The current draft sets a target of 10,800 rupees per hectare of agricultural land.

Per capita income is projected to increase. For example, the current draft sets a target of 100 in 33 years, 100 in 5 years, and 3 rupees in 3 years. In summary, the current draft is a comprehensive plan that aims to balance local development with economic goals, while also acknowledging the importance of sacrifice and cooperation between sectors.
Per Capita income $ 100. 62% of the people are uneducated. 75% of the people live in rural areas. Over 10% of the families are landless. The second Five Year Plan is expected to address these issues.

Land Reforms are needed to reduce the burden of land taxes. The Rural Credit Survey report shows that 40% of the families are underemployed. 6 million rural areas and towns in 1961 need development works. The Central Government plans to supply 4.5 million tons of rice to the Second Five Year Plan. Sri B. Ratnasabhapathi, on 26th March 1956, with the Draft Outline of the Second Five Year Plan.

The draft outline of the Second Five Year Plan, as presented by the Planning Commission, is as follows:

- Commerce and taxes: The commercial sector has shown a significant increase in revenue. The tax on income has been increased to 15%, with a lower rate of 10% for small businesses.
- Industries: The industries have also shown a remarkable growth. The industrial production has increased by 15% compared to the previous year.
- Collectivization: The collectivization of agriculture has been successful, with a 20% increase in agricultural output.
- Modernization: The modernization of agriculture has been a key focus, with significant investments in modern farming techniques.
- Industry: The industry sector has shown a steady growth, with an increase in industrial output of 10%.

The draft outline of the Second Five Year Plan is an attempt to address the needs of the country, and the plan is expected to bring about significant changes in the economy.

The second five-year plan echoes the triumphant goals set by the first plan in 1951. The plan emphasizes the growth and development of industries to foster industrialisation. The slogan ‘Where knowledge can take place of capital’ highlights the shift towards knowledge-based economy.

In the initial sections of the plan, efforts are made to support and develop industries that are crucial for the country's growth. It places a strong emphasis on education and research, which are integral to the plan's objectives. The plan seeks to integrate comprehensive educational reforms to ensure that the nation is equipped for the future.

DRAFT OUTLINE OF THE SECOND FIVE YEAR PLAN

The second plan, 42 years after the first five year plan, is to be a continuation.

The plan is divided into two phases: 1956-1960 and 1961-1965.

The plan is divided into five sectors:

1. Economic Development
2. Industrialization
3. Agriculture
4. Social Welfare
5. Infrastructure

The plan aims to increase the GDP by 5% per annum.

Some key sectors of the plan include:

- Infrastructure
- Agriculture
- Industrialization

The plan is focused on sustainable development and economic growth.

DRAFT OUTLINE OF THE SECOND FIVE YEAR PLAN

[26th March 1956]

Sr K. Venkata Rao

Investment in Agriculture and other sectors should be stepped up. Health service, education, Industry, and other fields should receive adequate investment.

Public loan float should be increased. Industry and Education are fields where voluntary contributions can be made. 12% of the total loan can be voluntary contributions. Industry should also be encouraged. Canals should be canalised. Super tax rate should be reduced to 89%.

Minister should be responsible for propaganda and point out the importance of the Second Five Year Plan.

Development is the keynote. The Fifth Five Year Plan aimed at achieving a planned economy. This involved setting up steel plants, pig iron plants, manganese plants, ferro-manganese plants, electric power plants, rural credit societies, co-operative societies, and credit for village industries. The Reserve Bank was instrumental in setting up share capital for marketing, warehousing, and lending.

The Marketing, warehousing, limited liability, lending share capital plan is expected to ensure long term credit, short term credit, and a comprehensive scheme for land reforms. The Fifth Five Year Plan is expected to achieve this.

Draft Outline of the Second Five Year Plan

Land reforms should be continued. Quantitative achievements should be published. Irrigation progress should be 200%. Soviet countries work behind the mask. Presentation should not be difficult. About 27% tax on collective fines and 27% on deposits should be sunk in a fund. Compulsory contribution as well. Income tax should be fixed. Should peasants be willing to work more? Should farmers be made to work twice?
"The small peasant economy is at bottom the same type of peasant economy as capitalist economy, for it rests on the private ownership of the means of production. The peasantry as long as it remains a peasantry carrying on small scale production will breed capitalists in its ranks and cannot help breeding them constantly and continuously."
