Textile Policy is a vital factor in the economic development of a country. In India, the Khadi and Village Industries Board plays a crucial role in promoting the production of khadi and traditional handloom products. The Board provides financial assistance to individual weavers and enterprises to encourage the growth of the textile industry. The Board also supports the construction of weaving sheds and the purchase of power looms to modernize the weaving process. In 1956, the Board allocated Rs. 80,000 for the purchase of power looms. The Board also donated 1,700 looms to the Board's shed in Telangana. The Board encourages the registration of Khadi and Village Industries enterprises under the Khadi and Village Industries Act of 1955. The Act provides for the registration of enterprises, which helps in the identification and monitoring of the activities of these enterprises. The Board also provides technical assistance to these enterprises to improve their efficiency and productivity.

The benefits of the Industrial Workers' Co-operative Housing Societies is limited to the workers who are governed by the Factories Act, 1948 or the Employees Provident Fund Act 1952. Under the subsidised Industrial Housing Scheme the Government of India will grant 50% loan and 25% subsidy to the Co-operative Societies composed of industrial workers. Two types of housing accommodation are made available to the Co-operative Societies of industrial workers; namely, one roomed single storeyed tenements, and single storeyed two roomed tenements. The standard cost of each of these two types being Rs. 2,700/- and Rs. 3,850 respectively, a standard rent not exceeding Rs. 10/- and Rs.19/- per mensum are chargeable respectively for each type of tenement. The loan is repayable with interest in 25 years in 300 monthly instalments. The rate of interest to be charged on the loans will depend on the following rate of the Government of India year after year. The cost of construction has to be limited to the standard costs prescribed. The member has to contribute the balance of the standard cost of construction over and above the Central Government assistance mentioned above. Whenever possible the subsidy to a Co-operative Society of Industrial workers should take the form of the grant of developed building sites, and the cost should not however exceed the maximum already indicated.

The ownership of the tenements will pass on to the workers after the period of 25 years if the member repays all dues to the Society. If any industrial worker who has already put in a service of 15 years at the time of retirement or death and has discharged the loan in full with interest etc. the Society with the previous permission of the Government may execute the formal conveyance of the site and the house to the worker. No subletting of tenements and transfer of tenements to others is allowed under the Rules.
