Urban areas are capitalistic outlook. To counter this, a democratic outlook is needed. Nationalisation of Road Transport is capitalistic, but Road Transport is controlled by capitalists. Workers are exploited. To counter the capitalistic tendency, nationalisation of Road Transport is needed. It is only the capitalists who benefit from this. Encouraging labour co-operative societies to promote reasonable costing of contracts will help. P.W.D. contractors are replaced by Tappers Co-operative Societies.
Cottage and small scale industries are significant in the state. With the expansion of industries in recent years, cottage industries have also seen growth. However, the disparity in the economic position of the Public and the Government is evident. The wages of workers in the state have not kept pace with the inflation rate, resulting in a significant disparity between the public and private sectors.

Wages increase in public and private sector is necessary to ensure a decent standard of living for the low-income workers. The government should make a favorable decision to increase wages in both sectors. This will help in bridging the gap and ensuring a better quality of life for the workers.

Although the Select Committee cast a long shadow, the long and short of it is that most of the factories and industries are working at a reduced scale. The situation is particularly acute in the cotton ginning factories, where the output has been reduced to 175% of the normal. In some cases, the output has fallen to 84% of the normal. The reasons for this are primarily due to the shortage of labour and raw materials. The Government has taken steps to ensure a steady supply of raw materials to the factories. The situation is also being monitored closely.

In the case of the Newsprint Factory, the output has fallen to 40% of the normal. The reasons are primarily due to the shortage of raw materials. The Government has taken steps to ensure a steady supply of raw materials to the factories. The situation is also being monitored closely.

The Minor Diesel Engine Factory is facing a similar problem. The output has fallen to 54% of the normal. The reasons are primarily due to the shortage of raw materials.
