Sir:

I. M. C. Mohanamma: Sir, may I have your permission to make a few observations?

Sir: You may.

I. M. C. Mohanamma: Sir, I have been informed through some of the students that incidents of student-teacher conflict have occurred recently. It is alleged that some of the teachers have been misbehaving with the students, creating an atmosphere of fear and intimidation among the students. Students have also reported instances of physical abuse and verbal harassment.

Sir: On a point of order please.

I. M. C. Mohanamma: Sir, I do not wish to interrupt the debate, but I have a point of order.

Sir: You may.

I. M. C. Mohanamma: Sir, I wish to draw your attention to the fact that the administration has been slow in addressing these issues. The students have been seeking redressal for a considerable period, but their concerns have not been adequately addressed.

Sir: You may.

I. M. C. Mohanamma: Sir, I would like to request that the administration take immediate action to ensure the safety and well-being of all students. The students deserve a conducive learning environment and fair treatment from their teachers.

Sir: You may.

I. M. C. Mohanamma: Sir, I would like to express my concern for the students and their welfare. I am sure the administration will take appropriate steps to address these issues.

Sir: You may.

I. M. C. Mohanamma: Sir, I would like to conclude by saying that the students have the right to a good education and they deserve to be treated with respect and dignity.

Sir: You may.

I. M. C. Mohanamma: Sir, thank you for your attention.

Sir: The debate is now closed.

Sri S. B. P. Pattabhirama Rao: I have nothing particular to say, Sir, except that the Statement of Objects and Reasons covers the contents of the Bill. They have not been changed at all. Yesterday, some hon. Members said that there was some difference of opinion on it. So I thought I might agree and I brought in these amendments. In any case, the Bill may be permitted, Sir.

Mr. Speaker: The amendment may be by a separate Bill.

On a point of order, Sir: As a way of merits and technical point, I think discussion should be limited.

Sir: As a way of merits and technical point, I think discussion should be limited.
While the Government always advocates in words for the autonomy of the Universities and decentralisation, this Bill in practice proves to be the embodiment of de-democratisation and beauracratic centralisation.
The Andhra University
(Extension of term of office of Vice-Chancellor) Bill, 1958

I am to inform you that the term of office of the present Vice-Chancellor will, by efflux of time, expire on the forenoon of 8-12-1958 and an election has to be held in accordance with section 12 (1) of the Andhra University Act and the statutes framed thereunder.

According to Section I of the Appendix to Chapter IV, University Code vol. I, containing statutes relating to the conduct of the election of Vice-Chancellor, a notice has to be forwarded to every Member of the Senate intimating the date of election. of the Vice-Chancellor at least thirty five clear days in advance of election.

But in view of the impending legislation seeking to amend the Andhra University Act, which proposes among others, certain modifications in regard to the method of appointment of Vice-Chancellor and in view of the uncertainty of the date when these amendments if passed, would come into effect, the Government of Andhra Pradesh were requested to state whether the University might as usual take steps for the election of Vice-Chancellor in accordance with the existing provisions of the Act. In reply the Government have stated as follows:

'I am to enclose for your information a copy of the Bill to be introduced in the ensuing Session of the State Legislature commencing from 24th November 1958, which seeks to extend the term of office of the Vice-Chancellor, Andhra University, for a period of four months from 8-12-1958. In view of this, it is not necessary to take action under the Statutes for the election of a Vice-Chancellor'.

Accordingly, I am by direction to inform you that, in view of the proposal of the Government to introduce a Bill for the purpose, no steps need be taken for election of the Vice-Chancellor and the usual notice calling for nominations for the election of Vice-Chancellor at the meeting of the Senate to be held on 5-12-1958 is not therefore being issued.'
The Andhra University
(Extension of term of office of Vice-Chancellor) Bill, 1958

Under the Constitution of India the balance of powers is very well preserved between the Legislature, the Executive and the Judiciary. In actual practice, however, in the eighth year of the Republic it should be clear to any student of constitutional law or public affairs that the Executive has become predominant, and the Legislature and the Judiciary are not given the importance which is necessary.

Mr. Speaker: That is not the point. The question is whether the Government has encroached upon the rights of the University. The University asked the Government what the position was and the Government said: 'Such and such is the position. Therefore, you need not have the election.' Have they not got the right to say so? Is it the encroachment upon the rights of the University? Why should the University ask them then?

Sir E. Chandru: "I have heard, Mr. Advocate General. As you know, the Andhra University Act of 1956 mentions the term of office of the Vice-Chancellor. The question is whether the term of office of the Vice-Chancellor can be extended or not? Mr. Advocate General!" I have heard that you have given your opinion that the term of office of the Vice-Chancellor can be extended. If so, may I know, Sir, in your opinion, whether the term of office of the Vice-Chancellor can be extended or not? If not, why? And if the term of office of the Vice-Chancellor cannot be extended, why?

The Government has given correct opinion. Election should be held within the amended Act. If it is not held, then the provisions of the Act should be amended.

The Vice-Chancellor should be appointed by the University. The University should appoint the Vice-Chancellor, as in the case of the Andhra University Act of 1956.

E. Chandru: The Andhra University Act provides for the appointment of the Vice-Chancellor by the University. The Government has given correct opinion. The Election should be held within the amended Act. If it is not held, then the provisions of the Act should be amended.

The Andhra University
(Extension of term of office of
Vice-Chancellor) Bill, 1958

25th November, 1958

The proposed Bill is designed to extend the term of office of the Vice-Chancellor of the Andhra University for a period of five years from the date of his assumption of office. The University has been functioning in a precarious state due to the financial crisis that has been prevailing in the country. The Bill is an attempt to provide the necessary financial support to the University to enable it to carry on its academic and administrative activities effectively.

In the context of the present situation, it is essential to ensure the continuity of the University's operations. The proposed Bill is a step in the right direction towards achieving this objective. The University community and all stakeholders are encouraged to give their support to the Bill to ensure the smooth functioning of the University.

The Bill seeks to amend the existing provisions of the Andhra University Act, 1957, to provide for the extension of the term of office of the Vice-Chancellor. The Bill proposes to extend the term of office from three to five years, thereby reducing the frequency of elections and providing stability to the University's administration.

The proposed amendments are expected to bring about a positive change in the overall functioning of the University. The Bill has been prepared with careful consideration of the needs and requirements of the University and the students. It is expected to provide a framework for the University to achieve its goals and objectives.

In conclusion, the proposed Bill is a necessary measure to ensure the smooth functioning of the Andhra University. It is hoped that the Bill will receive the support of the relevant authorities and the public to ensure its success. The University community and all stakeholders are encouraged to give their support to the Bill to ensure its success.

(Extension of term of office of Vice-Chancellor) Bill, 1958

The ordinance issue is under consideration. Under Section 7 of the ordinance, the question before the House is, whether the ordinance amendment should be subject to the assent of the Governor. Mr. Mundargi pointed out that the ordinance amendment is necessary as the existing ordinance is silent in this respect. Mr. Jagadish Chandra Bose argued that the amendment should be carried out by the Governor.

Mr. V. K. R. V. Menon pointed out that the amendment is necessary as the existing ordinance is silent in this respect. Mr. Jagadish Chandra Bose argued that the amendment should be carried out by the Governor.

On a point of order, Mr. M. C. Reddy said that the amendment is necessary as the existing ordinance is silent in this respect. Mr. Jagadish Chandra Bose argued that the amendment should be carried out by the Governor.

Second reading is under consideration. The Bill is noticed and moved.
Mr. Speaker: I have re-considered and changed my mind, that the Bill as it is cannot be proceeded with because you are all objecting. Therefore, even in the first reading he must put it in a proper manner. I am allowing it because it is only a technical thing. So, first let it be over. The Members can vote them down if they like.

Vice-Chancellor) Bill, 1958

They are not substantial amendments as contemplated by you or to be introduced in the second reading. In the first reading itself we found there was a mistake; I myself had some doubt. To be clear and to commit no irregularity, I am allowing the words to be changed during the stage of the very consideration of the Bill. Therefore the Minister has moved the amendments.

The question is:

"For the existing long-title, substitute the following: ‘A Bill to extend the term of office of the present Vice-Chancellor of the Andhra University’.

"For clause 1, substitute the following: ‘This Act may be called the Andhra University (Extension of term of office of Vice-Chancellor) Act, 1958’.

"In clause 2, omit the words ‘as amended by this section’.”

The motions were adopted.

(Pause)

Mr. Speaker: I will now put the main motion to vote. The question is:

"That the Andhra University (Extension of term of office of Vice-Chancellor) Bill, 1958 be read a First time."
