Saturday, 31st March, 1960

Dr. A. B. C. M. Department of Public Works

Dear Sir,

I am writing to draw your attention to the urgent need for repairs to the Sankili Bridge. The bridge has sustained significant damage, estimated at Rs. 1500000.

It is imperative that repairs be undertaken promptly to prevent further deterioration. The estimated cost for the repairs is Rs. 1000000, which I trust you will consider as a matter of priority.

Immediate action is required to ensure that the bridge is restored to its proper condition.

Yours sincerely,

Voting of Demands for Grants

Mr. Planning (Dr. A. V. Rau) said that after consideration, the demands for the year 1960-61, as announced by the Finance Minister, were approved by the House. The demands were in the form of estimates and were for various departments. He pointed out that the demands were substantial and represented a significant increase from the previous year. He also highlighted the importance of the demands in providing funds for the development of the country.

The demands were read out in the House and debated. Members of the House expressed their views and suggestions on the demands. The discussion was generally positive, with many members emphasizing the need for adequate funding to meet the challenges faced by the country.

Mr. Planning concluded by stressing the need for the government to ensure that the funds allocated were used efficiently and effectively.

The demands were finally approved by the House.

Dear Sir,

I have the honour to ask you to consider the following:

1. Extension Officers, Rs. 1,000.

Thepecicular work which these officers have to do is urgent and necessary for the proper functioning of the Cooperative Societies. They have to carry out various tasks like the preparation of financial reports, the training of members, and the organization of meetings. Without their services, the work of the cooperative societies would be seriously affected.

2. Extension Officers, Rs. 1,000.

These officers are responsible for extending the benefits of cooperative societies to the members. They have to educate and inform the members about the advantages of cooperative societies and encourage them to join. They also have to motivate the members to contribute towards the welfare of the society.

3. Extension Officers, Rs. 1,000.

These officers are responsible for the supervision and control of the activities of the cooperative societies. They have to ensure that the rules and regulations of the societies are being followed and that the financial transactions are being carried out properly. They also have to keep a check on the performance of the societies and provide necessary guidance and advice.

I would be grateful if you could approve these demands as they are essential for the smooth functioning of the cooperative societies.

Yours faithfully,

The Committee of this House, while welcoming the substantial increases in the grants to various Departments in the year 1960-61, desires to point out that the general index of prices has been rising at an alarming rate, and that the prices of essential commodities have touched new heights. The Committee feels that the Government should take immediate steps to control the inflationary trend and to stabilize the prices of essential commodities. The Committee also desires to draw the attention of the House to the need for a coordinated and effective policy for the development of the country. The Committee appreciates the efforts of the Government in this direction, but it desires to emphasize the importance of a comprehensive and balanced approach to development. The Committee also urges the Government to give due consideration to the recommendations of the Fifth Finance Commission.

In the Budget for the Year 1960-61, the total contribution for the year 1960-61 is estimated at Rs. 10 crores (9% of the total revenue). The government has decided to increase the contribution to Rs. 15 crores (15% of the total revenue) in the Budget for the Year 1961-62. This is to meet the increased demand for financial support to various departments.

Technical

The technical department is requested to submit a detailed report on the current status of technical expertise and the steps required to improve it. The department is also requested to submit a report on the technical studies carried out during the year 1960-61.

Contract

The contract for the construction of the new buildings is estimated to be completed within six months. The contractor is requested to submit a detailed report on the progress of the construction work.

Flexibility

The government is requested to provide flexibility in the financial arrangements to meet the unexpected expenses that may arise during the year 1961-62.

Local Self Government is a fundamental aspect of our governance. As per Section 5 of the Local Self Government Act, 1960, the local bodies are required to ensure the smooth functioning of the local administration. The Act mandates that the local bodies should provide for the maintenance of a well-organized local administration, including the provision of adequate funds for the same.

The local bodies are also required to provide for the maintenance of a well-organized local administration, including the provision of adequate funds for the same. The Act mandates that the local bodies should provide for the maintenance of a well-organized local administration, including the provision of adequate funds for the same.

Cooperative basis in the area of industries is another key aspect of the local government. The Act mandates that the local bodies should provide for the maintenance of a well-organized local administration, including the provision of adequate funds for the same.

In addition to the above, the local bodies are also required to provide for the maintenance of a well-organized local administration, including the provision of adequate funds for the same. The Act mandates that the local bodies should provide for the maintenance of a well-organized local administration, including the provision of adequate funds for the same.

Finally, the local bodies are required to provide for the maintenance of a well-organized local administration, including the provision of adequate funds for the same. The Act mandates that the local bodies should provide for the maintenance of a well-organized local administration, including the provision of adequate funds for the same.

The Ministry of Agriculture's National Extension Schemes emphasized the need for extension services. Similarly, the Rural Housing Schemes aimed to construct pilot schemes to improve housing conditions. The National Extension Schemes were designed to promote agricultural development through pilot schemes. houses were to be constructed. This was followed by the implementation of schemes to improve rural housing. A significant feature of these schemes was the provision of subsidies to encourage the construction of houses.

The housing schemes were complemented by land acquisition policies. These policies were intended to acquire land for housing purposes. The Social Welfare Department was responsible for these policies. Additionally, the Land Acquisition Scheme was introduced to facilitate the acquisition of land for housing purposes. The scheme was designed to streamline the acquisition process and ensure the availability of land for housing projects.

Planning

Planning is an essential tool for successful management. It involves the systematic study of the future, the formulation of plans, and the allocation of resources. The Planning Commission of a country plays a vital role in guiding the economic development of the nation. The Planning Commission ensures that the plans are made keeping in mind the long-term goals of the country. It also provides a framework for the implementation of these plans. Planning is a crucial aspect of any country's economic growth and development.

valuation certificates are acceptable? Are bogus certificates accepted? The issue of valuation certificates in 1959 was discussed in the House, and it was decided that the value of the property would be determined by
P. W. D. officials. The details are as follows:

1. Situation certificates: They are issued by the P. W. D. officials. The official applying for the certificate must submit a copy of the valuation certificate. The certificate must be authentic and not forged. The official must also submit a copy of the valuation certificate.

2. Water facilities: The P. W. D. provides water facilities. The officials must submit a copy of
the valuation certificate.

3. Slum clearance: The P. W. D. provides slum clearance. The officials must submit a copy of
the valuation certificate.

4. Insufficient staff: The P. W. D. has insufficient staff. The officials must submit a copy of
the valuation certificate.
