Motion on Address by the Governor

[28th July, 1961]

Mr. Speaker, Hon. Members:

It is a great pleasure for me to address the gathering assembled here today. Let me begin by expressing my gratitude to you, Hon. Members, for affording me this opportunity to speak in this august Assembly. I am deeply touched by the warm welcome that has been extended to me. It is a source of inspiration and encouragement for me to know that I am being listened to with interest and that my words are being taken seriously.

Let me first of all, pay my respects to His Excellency the Governor of the State, who is presiding over this Assembly. His Excellency is a distinguished statesman and a leader of great charisma. He has been a beacon of light for the people of this State and has been a role model for us all.

I must also express my appreciation to the staff of the Assembly for their hard work and dedication. They have done an excellent job in maintaining the smooth flow of proceedings. Their efforts have not gone unnoticed and I am grateful to them for their noble services.

Let me now come to the main topic of my address today. As you are aware, the supply of electricity is a vital necessity for the progress and development of any nation. Electricity is the lifeblood of our modern civilization. It is the driving force behind all our industrial and commercial activities. It is the key to unlocking the potential of our nation.

In this regard, I would like to mention the work of the P. W. D. Department, which has been doing a commendable job. They have been working tirelessly to ensure that the electricity supply is uninterrupted and reliable. They have been making continuous efforts to improve the quality of service and reduce the number of power outages.

I would also like to mention the efforts of the local authorities in ensuring that electricity is supplied to all the areas of the State. They have been working closely with the P. W. D. Department to ensure that the electricity supply is adequate and meets the needs of the people.

Let me now turn to another important aspect of our lives, which is the issue of chronic disease. Chronic diseases are a major cause of disability and a significant burden on our health care system. They require continuous care and management throughout the life span.

The Ministry of Health and Family Welfare has been working diligently to address this issue. They have been providing regular medical check-ups and providing medicine to people suffering from chronic diseases. They have been working closely with the local authorities to ensure that people with chronic diseases are able to receive the necessary care.

In conclusion, I would like to say that the people of this State are fortunate to have such dedicated and hard-working officials working for their welfare. I am confident that with the support of all of us, we will be able to overcome all the challenges and build a brighter future for our State.

Thank you.

224 Motion on Address by the Governor [28th July, 1961

This is the end of the document provided.
28th July, 1961]

Statement on damaging statement: Gulhati said here today that they have so far not arrived at any definite formula by which they could assess the dependability of the flow of Krishna and Godavari at various points.

"in 1951 an assessment was made of the supplies available in these rivers after meeting the requirements of the works then in operation and of further possible use in the light of the known new projects" assessment formula. "Water flow existed at various points in both these rivers, the requirements of various projects in all the States, and the physical possibility of diverting Godavari waters into Krishna...." they said that the study of these records at other places the Commission had already visited did not yield any basis for formulating general principles to assess the flow and other materials regarding river waters. He also said that one of the chief tasks was to scrutinise the way in which the data had been collected and kept at the concerned places."

Facts and figures show that in 1961 the power shortage accounted for 70% of the total demand. To get over the shortage, the government took the following steps.

1. The government purchased power from neighboring states.
2. The government induced private companies to generate power.
3. The government increased the production of power by improving the existing power plants.

Training institutions must, therefore, be accorded the highest priority. It is necessary to train a sufficient number of trained teachers in order to meet the increasing demand for trained teachers. There is a need to develop and expand training facilities for trained personnel. The current number of trained teachers is insufficient to meet the growing demand. The number of successful candidates is low. The number of successful candidates should be increased to 35,000. This can be achieved by increasing the number of successful candidates to 35,000.
