The Governor concluded by saying that the people of the country were now faced with a great challenge and that they must rise to the occasion and work together for the betterment of their country.

He ended with a call for unity and determination, and said that the people of the country must not lose heart in their struggle for freedom.

Motion on Address by the Governor

[11th November 1963]

In the House of the Legislature of the State of Andhra Pradesh, in the presence of the Speaker, Mr. S. V. Ranga Rao, and the Members of the House, the Governor, Mr. K. N. Raju, addressed the House on 11th November 1963.

The Governor, in his address, highlighted the need for administrative control over regular schools. He emphasized the importance of setting up principles to ensure effective control.

In his address, the Governor stated:

"I have taken note of the concerns raised by some Members regarding the administration of regular schools. It is important to establish clear principles to ensure that administrative control is effectively exercised over these schools.

Teachers have expressed their concerns about the lack of uniformity in the application of administrative control. The principles set up should ensure that all schools are treated fairly and equitably.

I am confident that these principles will provide a strong foundation for the effective management of regular schools."
non-officials on the other hand, have developed a different perspective from the perspective of the government. The non-officials' perspective is balanced and comprehensive.

So, non-officials do not just hold positions, they also play a crucial role in the determination of the interim period. They are not just there to support the government, but to challenge it as well. Their perspective is a necessary counterbalance to the government's perspective.

In conclusion, non-officials are a significant component of the interim period. Their perspective is balanced and comprehensive, and should be taken into account in the decision-making process.

11th November, 1963]    Motion on Address by the Governor

Sri C. D. Naidu: Mr. Speaker Sir, I may compliment the Governor for having read his address to us detailing the achievements and the programmes of his Government, the contents of which are not agreeable and acceptable to me. I am not in a position to support the resolution moved by my learned friend Mr. Das. All of us cherish to have a society of peace, prosperity and progress. To establish such a society, we need a plan. Even in ordinary life, from the poorest peasant to the plentiful prince, a plan is needed if he does not want to be irresponsible and reckless in his life. For the economic development of a country, a plan very carefully designed, effectively executed and constructively proceeded with, is essential and necessary. But in trying to plan to illustrate it, if we want to get up to a higher place, we use a ladder. If the ladder is kept very steeply and in a straight manner to the wall, we are liable to fall and we may not be able to reach the high place. Therefore we use the ladder in such a slant way that we are sure and feel safe to reach the high place. Here I may mention before I go into certain details with regard to the Plan and Planning in our country, that I have firm faith that out of controversy deeper understanding is developed. You all know that we have completed two Five Year Plans and we are in the third year of the Third Five Year Plan. During this period of 13 years, we have spent thousands of crores of rupees borrowed from other countries on interest and also raised very heavy and crushing taxation but we are at a loss to understand and know that our country has not either developed nor progressed as we wanted. To illustrate that way, I only repeat the statements of many statesmen of this country that the planning has not been successful and that after a period of 13 years, the average income of an individual in this country, as pointed out acceptedly by even the ruling party, is only 35 n.P. or 37 n.P. Apart from that I sympathise with the incident mentioned by Sri Vasudevarao in his speech, that after a period of 13 years of planning and development in his village a young couple desperately had to lose their lives—who were very sincere to get on in this country. We are very unhappy to note that. To put in a nutshell, this will prove the actual progress and the actual development that we have achieved during these 13 years period during which we have spent thousands of crores of rupees. Therefore I am only constrained to remark that in all these 16 years of legislation in this country after independence, many of us have been supporting certain moves and some of us have been constructively critical about certain propositions, but now the time has come when all of us should sit together and judge the actual position in this country and come to a very useful formula which would benefit the whole nation as such. It is well-known that even Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru has repeatedly mentioned that the First and Second Five Year Plans have failed. Very recently he has also mentioned that the benefits of these Plans have not reached the masses. Mere taking in Ashok Mehta into the Planning Commission would not in any way solve the situation because even Mr. Ashok Mehta would not be able to cause miracles to happen. Therefore, the Planning Commission as such, the Planning in this country as such or the method and the structure are to be altered and modified so that the results of planning would be beneficial to the people of this country. To analyse real planning and the practical way that it is being implemented, we see that spending alone is the criterion but not economic return for the money spent is taken to be the criterion in Planning. Therefore, in considering planning: I appeal to all the Members of all parties to give a free thinking in a disinterested and dispassionate manner in the interests of the nation. It is a happy thing that at least now the Government have realized that minor irrigation and power are very essential for the development of agriculture. If this realisation had come some years back, I believe tremendous progress would have been made in agriculture. Even now it is not late; if agriculture is to be improved, I appeal to the Government and especially to the Minister for Public Works, Sri A. C. Subbarayudu to take all statistics immediately from the members of this House, which they can easily give, of all the minor irrigation schemes, of the tanks and supply channels.
that require immediate repairs in all the constituencies, and of the backward villages which depend entirely on power for agricultural purposes; the Government can immediately take these particulars and go ahead with the works so that in the near future the poor agriculturists of our State would be benefited.

In this connection, I may mention here about the transfer of Rajamundry Paper mills to private sector on which certain Members of this House have spoken. I am very happy that the Government have now realised the soundness of the real and practical philosophy of the Swatantra Party, that the Government is only there to govern and not to do business. I support the move of the Government in not investing so much of huge amount on industry when lakhs of people are suffering for the bare necessities of life. The industrial policy of the Government also requires to be modified; they must encourage some of the medium-scale industries so that along with industrial progress the Government also may be benefited; in trying to establish medium-scale industries, all round facilities can be provided for the people so that in the near future our State can become industrialized and there will be progress in every sphere of human activity. Our Government has been thinking of opening some factories and about industrial progress. In spite of the statements in the press that both sugar and cement are in abundance in our State, we find that in practical life both sugar and cement are in scarcity, and the common man is unable to get these two essential commodities.

In the field of co-operation, much development on the principle of 'each for all and all for each' is being made. Co-operation as such has no political influences and it is a non-party issue intended for the benefit of the people in general. Therefore, in the interest of democratic ideals on which co-operation is being developed, it is not fair on the part of the Government to interfere with the day-to-day activities of such an organisation. In the contemplated Bill that is to come before the House shortly, I feel that clauses pertaining to such interference by Government should be deleted.

In any society, education and public health should be given the highest priority by any Government. No doubt, our Government are endeavouring to expand education and public health. But it is not very satisfactory. If we take the facts into consideration, I believe many more professional and technical colleges would have to be opened. It is not enough if the Government could afford to give certain scholarships. As is done in every other State, it is essential that free education up to S. S. L. C. should be provided to all children. Besides, there are millions of labourers untrained. Therefore, in every district headquarters it is essential to establish labour schools so that the labourers available in the districts would have a very good training in those schools.

With regard to public health, after sixteen years independence every hospital should be an institution inviting patients. But, as representatives of the people we see that many people are not able to enter even the Government hospitals, and the low bed strength ought to be increased in view of the increasing diseases in the State. Instead of celebrating malaria or small—pox eradication schemes, it is better if preventive measures are effectively taken to arrest the growth and spread of virulent diseases like Cancer and Tuberculosis; and for the same reason, in every district headquarters hospital a separate clinic for women and children should be opened for attending to Cancer and T. B. patients; by this I believe we would be doing justice to our people to a certain extent.
Besides, as I was telling in this House very often, the rural population of our State is far away from the medical aid. Therefore, it is up to us to see that medical aid is taken to them into the rural areas.

In his Address, the Governor has forgotten the millions of labourers, the N. G. Os. and the Harijans whose plight is deplorable. A comprehensive scheme has to be prepared by the Government for the effective implementation of the labour laws. There is no use of having Acts passed without seeing to their effective implementation. I feel that the Act passed in 1961 is not effectively implemented throughout the State. I earnestly appeal to the Government to implement those Acts effectively. In view of the high prices prevailing now, I suggest that some relief should also be given to N. G. Os. and the Harijans. It is the wish of Mahatma Gandhi whom we worship even today, to improve the lot of Harijans. There are many cases where Harijans occupying vacant and poramboke lands for 10 to 15 years are not yet granted pattas. It is really an unhappy state of affairs. Therefore, to the poor Harijans and the landless poor that are enjoying vacant and poramboke lands, pattas may be granted to them.

With regard to prohibition policy,........

Mr. Speaker : The hon. Member Sri C. Bali Reddi will now speak.
