Dr T. V. S. Chalapathi Rao — One point of information, Sir. In the letters of resignation, have these members mentioned any reasons for their resignation?

Mr Speaker — They have mentioned reasons. But those reasons are not admissible. There is a form prescribed in the rules, which says "I resign my membership of the Assembly from such and such a date." That is all. They have written a number of things with which we are not concerned.

Dr T. V. S. Chalapathi Rao — Were they not expunged from the record?

Mr Speaker — No question of record. They were not admitted. Only one sentence of resignation is admitted, the rest of what has been stated in their letters is disallowed.

Government Bill 19th November, 1966

The Andhra Pradesh Forest Bill, 1966

This is to inform you that the draft of the Andhra Pradesh Forest Bill, 1966 has been prepared. The draft includes the following provisions:

1. Declaration of Forest: The forest area to be declared is in the correct position and is located at a reasonable distance. The boundaries of the forest area are clearly marked.

2. Forest Management: The management of the forest area is to be handled by the Forest Department. The Department is responsible for the conservation and development of the forest resources.

3. Forest Rights: The rights of the local community to utilize the forest resources are to be protected. The community is granted certain rights to use the forest for their livelihood needs.

4. Forest Protection: The forest area is to be protected from illegal activities such as deforestation and forest fires. The forest guards are to be deployed to ensure the protection of the forest.

5. Penalties: Those who violate the provisions of the forest law are to be subjected to penalties. The penalties are to be determined by the concerned authorities.

6. Public Awareness: The public is to be educated about the importance of forests and the need to protect them. This will be done through public meetings, seminars, and other awareness programs.

This bill aims to provide a framework for the sustainable management and protection of the forest resources in the state. It is hoped that this bill will contribute to the conservation of the natural environment and the well-being of the local community.

Government Bill:

The Bill was presented to the Assembly by the Minister of Forests on 19th November, 1986.

5. Growth (Forest Sector):—The Forest Bill is joint Select Committee legislation which allows for the cultivation of trees for the production of timber and other forest products. The Bill proposes to encourage the growth of trees for the purpose of producing more food and timber. It aims to improve the condition of the forest area by managing the resources effectively. The Bill seeks to achieve this by providing incentives for the growth of trees and by promoting sustainable forest management.

The Andhra Pradesh Forest Bill, 1966

On the 19th November, 1966,

The following provision has been included in the Bill to ensure the protection of the private lands:

1. Restriction: The Bill restricts the charge of penalty for the damage caused to private lands. Wherever damage occurs, the penalty is fixed at a lower rate.

2. Private lands: The value of the lands is determined based on their market value. The penalty for damage is proportionate to the value of the lands.

3. Distribution: The distribution of the fines is carried out by the Tribal Corporation for the forest produce and timber.

4. Distribution (a) Tribal Corporation: The Tribal Corporation receives priority over other materials.

5. Development: The development of the foreign market is being developed.

6. Timber: The Tribal Corporation gets priority in the sale of timber.

7. Tribal Corporation: The Tribal Corporation has the right to directly sell the forest produce and timber.

8. Forest area: The wasteland forest area is given priority.

9. Sale: The sale of materials is directly to the Tribal Corporation.

10. Production: The production of forest produce is directly by the Tribal Corporation.

Even at the nation's cost a^gsf^g waste land a^a^aRbeo 88% Uncutivable waste 24% Reserve forest Cultivable waste 34% Maintain waste land Forest area 32% Uncultivable waste 24% Agricultural lands 24% Cultivable waste 34% Waste land 34%
Reserved forest lands are amendment to the Andhra Pradesh Forest Bill, 1966. The Foreign Government has powers to cultivate waste lands and compensation big land lords to small land lords. The constitution legislation discriminates big land lords and small land lords.

Clause 23 of the joint select committee disreserves reserved forest areas.

Forest is useful and it is our duty to see how far it is useful for the economy. Forest is the backbone of the economy. Forest provides fuel, timber, and other products. Forest is also a source of employment for many people. Therefore, it is important to protect and conserve the forest. One way to do this is by creating forests reserves. These reserves are areas where the government controls the use of the forest. This ensures that the forest is used in a sustainable way.
