re: Demise of Sri J.V. Narasinga Rao

Sri A. Sriramulu (Eluru):—Sir. I know Sri J. V. Narasing Rao for the past 10 years. From the year 1969, it was a period of trial and test for the entire State. He withstood all the pressures and resisted several sorts of pressures and preserved the integrity of the State and unity of several people. The State has lost a staunch integrationist and an experienced politician.

I fully share the sentiments and feelings expressed by the Chief Minister and on behalf of the Members of my group and myself, I convey our heart-felt condolences to the bereaved family.

Sri Syed Hasan (Charminar):—Sir, as all great men leave their foot prints on the sands of time, Mr. J. V. Narasing Rao was no doubt one. He was besides being an eminent lawyer, a politician. No doubt he was an active worker in all fields; but he worked more for humanity irrespective of caste and creed. All of us who had the privilege of being associated with him would know in detail as to his humanitarian approach and attitude towards all persons irrespective of the caste or creed to which they belong. While paying our respects to such persons to their memories, we should also try to pick up from them what they wanted to do and we should try to follow it up. That is the real homage one could pay to such persons who had served for humanity.

On behalf of myself and on behalf of my party, I express my deep sorrow on the demise of Mr. J. V. Narasing Rao. I would pray God that his old father be given patience to bear this great loss.

Condolence Motion:

1st September, 1972.

Sri S. Jojpal Reddy (Kallakurti), — Sr. I would like to associate myself with the condolence motion tabled by the Leader of the House. The premature demise of Sri J V Narasimha Rao is almost surprising because he enjoyed per cent wealth in his death. We have lost a great patriot, a great administrator and, above all, a very fine gentleman. The most remarkable thing about him was that he could remain so guidanceless in politics. As I used to say, he used to carry his heart on his sleeves. If anybody ever confronted him he could easily read what all he felt. As Mr Kesavulu has rightly pointed out, politics he always took a steadfast stand in this connection. I am reminded of the lines of Dante. It was Dante who said that the hottest places in hell are reserved for those who maintain strict neutrality in the hour of a moral crisis. In the history of Andhra Pradesh, or in the history of the erstwhile Hyderabad State, there was not an occasion when Sri J V Narasimha Rao did not take a categorical stand on any problem and fought it out. During the recent Telangana agitation we all know how he stood rock-like for the integrated State and I must say on this occasion that he made a mighty contribution for the preservation of the integration of the State. With these few words, I convey my sympathies to the members of the bereaved family.
